This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

BEGUN and held at the Capitol, in the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, on Tuesday, the eighteenth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine; being the First Session of the FORTY-SIXTH Congress held under the Constitution of the Government of the United States, and in the one hundred and third year of the Independence of said States.

On which day, being the day fixed by proclamation of the President of the United States of the 4th of March, 1879, for the meeting of Congress, which said proclamation is in the words following, to wit:

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the final adjournment of the Forty-fifth Congress without making the usual and necessary appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and without making the usual and necessary appropriations for the support of the Army for the same fiscal year, presents an extraordinary occasion, requiring the President to exercise the power vested in him by the Constitution to convene the Houses of Congress in anticipation of the day fixed by law for their next meeting:

Now, therefore, I, Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States, do, by virtue of the power to this end in me vested by the Constitution, convene both Houses of Congress to assemble at their respective chambers at twelve o'clock noon on Tuesday, the 18th day of March instant, then and there to consider and determine such measures as, in their wisdom, their duty and the welfare of the people may seem to demand.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 4th day of March, A. D. 1879, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and third.

[SEAL.] R. B. HAYES.

By the President:

Mr. Blackburn submitted the following resolutions as an amendment in the nature of a substitute therefor, viz:

Resolved, That a committee of five members be appointed by the Speaker to revise and simplify the rules of the House; that they have leave to sit in vacation, and shall report on or before the first day of the regular session in December next.

Resolved, That until such report is made and adopted the rules of the Forty-fifth Congress be, and are hereby, adopted for the Forty-sixth Congress.

Pending which,

Mr. Garfield submitted the following as an amendment to the said substitute, viz:

Add to the second resolution of the substitute these words:

Except the last paragraph of Rule 120, which shall be so amended as to read as follows:

Nor shall any provision in any such bill or amendment thereto changing existing law be in order.

Pending which,

Mr. Hooker, by unanimous consent, submitted the following substitute for the resolution submitted by Mr. Springer, and amendments pending thereto, viz:

Resolved, That the committee to revise and reform the rules of this House be, and they are hereby, instructed to report at an early day an amendment of the rules of the House, so as to provide—

First. That the Committee on Military Affairs shall receive the estimates and report the bills for the annual support of the Army of the United States, and receive the estimates and report the bill for the annual support of the Military Academy at West Point.

Second. That the Committee on Naval Affairs shall receive the estimates and report the appropriation bills for the annual support of the Navy of the United States.

Third. That the Committee on Foreign Affairs shall receive the estimates and report the appropriation bill for the maintenance and support of the diplomatic and consular system of the United States.

Fourth. That the Committee on Indian Affairs shall receive the estimates and report the appropriation bill for carrying out the treaties and obligations of the Government of the United States with the various Indian tribes.

Fifth. That the Committee on the Post-Office and Post-Roads shall receive the estimates and make the appropriation for support of the Post-Office Department of the government.

Sixth. That the Committee on Commerce shall receive the estimates of the Engineer department and introduce the annual appropriation bill for improvement of rivers and harbors.

Seventh. That the Committee on Invalid Pensions shall report the appropriation bill for the payment of pensions.

Eighth. That the Committee on Appropriations shall receive the estimates and report the appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the government and the sundry civil service bill and all deficiency bills.

Ninth. That the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds be authorized to report all appropriation bills for such public buildings as the needs of the government may require.

Pending which,

Mr. Hunton and Mr. Aikin submitted amendments thereto.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Springer, the consideration of the said resolutions and amendments thereto was passed over for the present, and the same were ordered to be printed.

Mr. Bright submitted the following resolution and demanded the previous question thereon, viz:

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House shall now proceed to place in a box the name of each Member and Delegate of the House of Representatives, written upon a separate slip of paper; that he proceed in the presence of the House to draw from said box, one at a time, the said slips of paper; and as each is drawn he shall announce the name of each Member or Delegate upon it, who shall choose his seat for the present Congress: Provided, That before said drawing shall commence the Speaker shall cause each seat to be vacated, and shall see that every seat continues vacant until it is selected under this order; and that every seat, after having been selected, shall be deemed forfeited if left unoccupied before the call of the roll of the House: Provided, That Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia; Hon. William D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, the oldest member in continuous service; Hon. Fernando Wood, of New York, the oldest member in point of service in this House; Hon. A. M. Lay, of Missouri, Hon. S. S. Cox, of New York, Hon. S. B. Chittenden, of New York, Hon. James A. Garfield, of Ohio, and Hon. Oscar Turner, of Kentucky, be allowed to select seats before the drawing of the seats begins.

Pending which,

On motion of Mr. Chalmers, the said resolution was laid on the table.

Mr. McMahon, as a question of privilege, presented a memorial signed by 23 citizens of Cincinnati, Ohio, relating to the right of two members of this House to seats in this House, from the State of Ohio.

Mr. Keifer made the point of order that the said memorial was not in order as a question of privilege, and objected to the reading of the same.

After debate, by unanimous consent, on the said point of order,

The Speaker overruled the same on the ground that he could not decide a point of order respecting the admissibility of a paper until the same had been read, and also on the further ground that "when a proposition is submitted which relates to the privileges of the House, it is his duty to entertain it, at least to the extent of submitting the question to the House as to whether or not it presents a question of privilege."

And then,

By unanimous consent, the further consideration of the question presented by Mr. McMahon was postponed until to-morrow.

On motion of Mr. Cox,

Ordered, That until otherwise fixed by the House the hour of daily meeting shall be 12 o'clock m.

Mr. Bright submitted the following resolution and demanded the previous question thereon, viz:

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House shall at once proceed to place in a box the name of each Member and Delegate of the House of Representatives, written or printed upon a separate slip of paper; that he proceed in the presence of the House to draw from said box, one at a time, the said slips of paper, and as each is drawn he shall pronounce the name of each Member or Delegate upon it, who shall choose his seat for the present Congress: Provided, That before said drawing shall commence the Speaker shall cause each seat to be vacated, and shall see that every seat continues vacant until it is selected under this order, and that every seat after having been selected under this order shall be deemed forfeited if left unoccupied before the call of the roll of the House.

The previous question was thereupon seconded and the main question ordered, and under the operation thereof the said resolution was agreed to.

Mr. Bright moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, leave was granted Mr. John B. Clark, jr., to select a seat for Mr. Lay, and to Mr. Davidson for the representative from the second Congressional district of Florida.

The drawing of seats was thereupon proceeded with in accordance with the aforesaid resolution.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Springer, at 4 o'clock and 20 minutes p. m., the House adjourned.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19, 1879.

The following memorials, petitions, and other papers were laid on the Clerk's desk, under the rule, and referred as follows, viz:

to the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, when appointed.

By Mr. Cox: The petition of Thomas Shiels and other citizens of New York, for the amendment of the shipping laws;
to the Committee on Commerce, when appointed.

Also, the petition of 70,000 citizens of the United States, for the amendment of the postal laws relating to the transmission of obscene literature;

By Mr. Dunnell: The petition of William P. Spooner and 30 other citizens, of Freeborn, Minnesota, for the passage of the Reagan inter-State-commerce bill;

Also, the petition of J. Utley and 20 other citizens of Preston, Minnesota, of similar import;

By Mr. Hill: The petition of S. E. Root and others, of Fulton County, Ohio, of similar import;

Also, the petition of T. C. Derbin and others, of Williams County, Ohio, of similar import;

By Mr. Stone: The petition of the members of Monterey Grange, Michigan, of similar import;
to the Committee on Commerce, when appointed.

By Mr. Townshend: The petition of citizens of Franklin County, Illinois, that pensions be granted soldiers of the Mexican war; to the Committee on Invalid Pensions, when appointed.

Mr. Amaziah B. James, a Representative from the State of New York, appeared and, having taken the oath of office prescribed by section 1756 of the Revised Statutes, took his seat in the House.

Mr. Chalmers presented the credentials of Mariana S. Otero as Delegate from the Territory of New Mexico in the Forty-sixth Congress.

Whereupon

Mr. Otero appeared and, having taken the oath of office prescribed by section 1756 of the Revised Statutes, took his seat in the House.

Resolutions were, by unanimous consent, submitted, read, considered, and agreed to as follows, viz:

By Mr. Carlisle:

Resolved, That the order adopted by the Forty-fifth Congress in relation to the admission of persons to the floor of the Hall during the sessions of the House be, and the same is hereby, continued in force, and the officers of the House are hereby directed to see that the same is strictly enforced.

By Mr. Calkins:

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House is hereby authorized to furnish all necessary stationery to members and officers of the House out of any stationery now on hand, keeping an account thereof, and to be charged to an appropriation hereafter to be made for that purpose.

The House then proceeded, as the regular order of business, to the consideration of the question as to the person entitled to a seat as Representative from the State of Florida, the pending question being on the following preamble and resolution submitted by Mr. Frye as an amendment in the nature of a substitute for the resolution submitted by Mr. John T. Harris, viz:

Whereas the credentials upon which Noble A. Hull claims a seat in the Forty-sixth Congress from the second Congressional district of the State of Florida have been annulled and made void by the judgment of the supreme court of that State; and

Whereas, in pursuance and in compliance with such judgment and with the laws of said State, the State board of canvassers of Florida have determined, declared, and certified that Horatio Bisbee, jr., is duly elected a Representative to the Forty-sixth Congress of the United States of America from the second Congressional district of the State of Florida: Therefore,

Resolved, That Horatio Bisbee, jr., is entitled to be sworn in as a member of this House on his prima-facie case.

After debate,

Mr. Blackburn, from the committee appointed on the part of the House to wait on the President of the United States, reported that the committee had discharged that duty, and that the President had informed them that he would communicate a message in writing to the two Houses immediately.

A message in writing was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. W. K. Rogers, his private secretary, which was handed in at the Speaker's table.

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, laid the said message before the House.

The same having been read, as follows, viz:

Fellow-citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

The failure of the last Congress to make the requisite appropriations for legislative and judicial purposes, for the expenses of the several executive departments of the government, and for the support of the Army, has made it necessary to call a special session of the Forty-sixth Congress.

The estimates of the appropriations needed, which were sent to Congress by the Secretary of the Treasury at the opening of the last session, are renewed, and are herewith transmitted to both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Regretting the existence of the emergency which requires a special session of Congress at a time when it is the general judgment of the country that the public welfare will be best promoted by permanency in our legislation and by peace and rest, I commend these few necessary measures to your considerate attention.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

WASHINGTON, March 19, 1879.

On motion of Mr. Wood,

Ordered, That the said message be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and, with the accompanying documents, be printed.

Subsequently,

On motion of Mr. Clymer, by unanimous consent,

Ordered, That so much of the foregoing order as relates to printing be modified so as to print the number of copies fixed by the Speaker.

The House then resumed the consideration of the regular order.

After further debate,

Mr. Frye withdrew the said preamble and resolution, and, in lieu thereof, submitted the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That the question of the prima facie as well as the final right of Horatio Bisbee, jr., and Noble A. Hull, contestants, respectively claiming a seat in this House from the second district of Florida, be referred to the Committee of Elections hereafter to be appointed; and until such committee shall have reported in the premises and the House have decided such question neither of said contestants shall be admitted to a seat.

After further debate,

Mr. John T. Harris demanded the previous question, which was seconded, and the main question ordered.

Mr. Harris moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question was then put on the adoption of the resolution submitted by Mr. Frye, viz:

Will the House agree thereto?

And it was decided in the negative,

Mr. Mills moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question then being on the adoption of the following amendment, submitted by Mr. Fort, viz:

Amend Rule 51 by inserting after the last word the following:

And the morning hour shall not be dispensed with upon any day for any purpose except by a vote of two-thirds of the members present;

And being put,

The same was agreed to.

Mr. Fort moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question then being on the adoption of the following amendment, submitted by Mr. Townshend, viz:

That when States are called for the introduction of bills they shall be called in their alphabetical order;

And being put,

The same was disagreed to.

The question then being on the adoption of the following amendment, submitted by Mr. James W. Singleton, viz:

Amend Rule 101 by striking out all after the figures "1822" and inserting the following:

And the Committees on Printing, Commerce, and Banking and Currency at any time;

When

Mr. Singleton, by unanimous consent, withdrew the same.

Mr. Stephens submitted the following resolution; which was read, considered, and agreed to, viz:

Resolved, That the Committee on Rules be authorized to incorporate the several propositions agreed to at the proper places in the existing rules.

Mr. Garfield, from the Committee on Rules, submitted the following report; which was read, considered, and, under the operation of the previous question, agreed to, viz:

The Committee on Rules, to whom was referred the resolution of the House in reference to a modification of Rules 59 and 113, or of the practice which has arisen under them, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to present the following report:

The rules under consideration are as follows:

"59. When two or more members happen to rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.—April 7, 1789."

"113. The rules of proceedings in the House shall be observed in a Committee of the Whole House, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the times of speaking—April 7, 1789; but no member shall speak twice to any question until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.—December 18, 1805."

With the exception of the last clause of Rule 113, which was adopted in 1805, these rules have remained unchanged for ninety years. In the nature of the case discretion must be lodged with the presiding officer, and no fixed and arbitrary order of recognition can be wisely provided for in advance; and the committee are of opinion that these rules should not be changed.

The practice of making a list of those who desire to speak on measures before the House or Committee of the Whole is a proper one to enable the presiding officer to know and remember the wishes of members. As to the order of recognition, he should not be bound to follow the list, but should be free to exercise a wise and just discretion in the interest of full and fair debate.

The committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Garfield moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted as follows:

To Mr. Joseph J. Davis, until Tuesday next;

To Mr. Horr, for ten days; and

To Mr. Fernando Wood, for four days.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Atkins, at 4 o'clock and 32 minutes p. m., the House adjourned.

When

Mr. Casey Young, from the Select Committee on the Origin, Introduction, and Prevention of Epidemic Diseases in the United States, reported a bill relating to the organization of the National Board of Health.

Pending the question on its second reading,

On motion of Mr. Young, by unanimous consent, the joint resolution of the Senate (S. Res. 20) relating to the organization of the Board of Health; was taken from the Speaker's table, read three times and passed.

Mr. Young moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

And then

Mr. Young withdrew the aforesaid House bill.

Mr. Stephens, from the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures, reported a bill to provide for the interchange of subsidiary coins for legal-tender money under certain circumstances, and to make such coins a legal tender in all sums not exceeding ten dollars.

The bill having been read a first time,

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said bill was not in order to be reported from the said committee, the subject-matter thereof not having been referred by the House to the said committee, either by rule or otherwise.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that it was competent for a committee to report a bill based on a petition properly referred to such committee, and in the present case the bill under consideration was based upon a petition regularly referred under Rule 132 to the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures.

Mr. Buckner made the further point of order that the subject-matter of the pending bill, under the rules, belonged to the Committee on Banking and Currency, and was not in order to be reported by the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures.

Pending which,

The morning hour expired.

The House then resumed as the regular order of business the consideration of the motion of Mr. Atkins that when the House next resumed the consideration of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill in the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, all debate on the pending paragraph and amendments thereto close in ten minutes, pending when the House last adjourned.

And the question being put, the said motion was agreed to.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Atkins, the rules were suspended and the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and after some time spent therein the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Blackburn reported that the committee, having had under consideration the bill of the House No. 2 (legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill), had come to no resolution thereon.

Mr. Kenna, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined and found truly enrolled a bill and joint resolution of the following titles:

S. Res. 20. Joint resolution relating to the organization of the National Board of Health;

When

The Speaker signed the same.

The Speaker also, by unanimous consent, laid before the House the following letter, viz:

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Washington City, April 18, 1879.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith, for the information of Congress, a communication from Captain James B. Eads, dated the 8th instant, and a report from the Acting Chief of Engineers thereon, dated 15th instant, in reference to the progress of the Mississippi River jetty works, and in regard to the propriety of forthwith securing Congressional action to insure prompt payment of any and all lawful demands on account of said works.

Although a question is pending in the Treasury Department as to whether any money is available for further payment to Captain Eads of such demands, and an opinion will probably be rendered by the Attorney-General at an early date on the questions raised by the Acting Chief of Engineers, yet I deem it proper to invite the attention of Congress to this matter without further delay.

In order to remove all doubts concerning funds available to meet all proper obligations in this connection, I recommend that Congress appropriate the requisite amount of money to pay said Eads, or his legal representatives; otherwise, under the provisions of the act of March 3, 1875, if Congress shall have failed to appropriate the money, Captain Eads may claim payment in 5 per cent. bonds; and I submit herewith the draught of a bill which, if passed, will doubtless accomplish the objects in view.

Very respectfully,

GEO. W. McCRARY,
Secretary of War.

To the SPEAKER
Of the House of Representatives.

The same having been read,

The Speaker sustained the point of order.

There being no amendment to section 4, the same was changed to section 5.

The question then being on the substitute submitted by Mr. Willis, on Saturday last, on which Mr. Hawley made the point of order that the same, not being germane to the pending bill, was not in order,

The Speaker having entertained the point of order,

Mr. Mills, by unanimous consent, withdrew the said substitute.

Ordered, That the bill be engrossed and read a third time.

Being engrossed, the bill was accordingly read the third time.

The question then being on the passage of the bill;

When

Mr. Stephens demanded the previous question; which was seconded, and the main question ordered.

The bill, as amended, having been read, viz:

Be it enacted, &c., That the holder of any of the silver coins of the United States of smaller denominations than one dollar may, on presentation of the same in sums of twenty dollars or any multiple thereof, at the office of the Treasurer or any assistant treasurer of the United States, receive therefor lawful money of the United States.

SEC. 2. The Treasurer or any assistant treasurer of the United States who may receive any coins under the provisions of this act shall exchange the same in sums of twenty dollars, or any multiple thereof, for lawful money of the United States on demand of any holder thereof.

SEC. 3. That the present fractional or subsidiary silver coins shall hereafter be a legal tender in all sums not exceeding twenty dollars, in full payment of all dues, public and private.

SEC. 4. That all coins of every description, of the United States, ot the face value of twenty-five cents and under, shall be received at all post-offices for the payment of postage or the purchase of postage-stamps in any sums not exceeding three dollars.

SEC. 5. That all laws or parts of laws in conflict with this act be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

The question was then put, viz:

Shall the bill pass?

And it was decided in the affirmative.

So the bill was passed.

Mr. Stephens moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the title be amended so as to read as follows, viz:

A bill to provide for the exchange of subsidiary coins for lawful money of the United States under certain circumstances, and to make such coins a legal tender in all sums not exceeding twenty dollars, and for other purposes.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate therein.

Mr. A. Herr Smith, from the Committee of Accounts, to which was referred the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That the committees of this House designated on the 15th instant as entitled to clerks under the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill, making appropriations for the year ending June 30, 1880, be, and they are hereby, authorized to employ clerks during the session within the present fiscal year, and any excess of clerks hereby authorized over the number provided for by existing laws shall, under direction of the Committee of Accounts, be paid out of the contingent fund of the House; reported the same without amendment, and demanded the previous question thereon.

The previous question was seconded and the main question ordered; and under the operation thereof the said resolution was agreed to.

Mr. Atkins, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a bill (H. R. 1343) to provide for certain expenses of the present session of Congress, and for other purposes; which was read twice.

The House having proceeded to its consideration,

Mr. Atkins demanded the previous question, which was seconded and the main question ordered; and, under the operation thereof, the bill was engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Atkins moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Burch, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed a bill of the following title, viz:

S. 218. Changing the name of the National Bank of Commerce of Cincinnati, Ohio, to the National Lafayette and Bank of Commerce of Cincinnati, Ohio;

in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, laid before the House a letter from the Postmaster-General relative to a building for the Washington City post-office; which was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds.

Mr. Knott, from the Committee on the Judiciary, submitted the following report and resolution, viz:

The Committee on the Judiciary, to which was referred the following communication from the Adjutant-General of the Army of the United States:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, April 16, 1879.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith a subpœna addressed to Mr. Ferris Finch, file clerk of the House of Representatives, whose attendance is required on the 18th instant as a witness before the general court-martial in the case of Colonel D. S. Stanley, Twenty-second Infantry, with request that it may be delivered to Mr. Finch.

I have the honor to be, sir, most respectfully, your obedient servant,

E. D. TOWNSEND,
Adjutant-General.

To the SPEAKER of the House of Representatives.

Accompanied by the following paper:

Subpœna for a witness to appear before a general court-martial.

To Ferris Finch, esq., file clerk, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear as witness on the 18th day of April, 1879, at 11 o'clock a. m., at Army building, New York City, before the general court-martial appointed thereat by Special Order No. 66, issued from Headquarters of the Army, Adjutant-General's Office, of date March 20, 1879, to testify to certain matters before said court in the case of the United States against Colonel D. S. Stanley, Twenty-second Infantry, for the United States; and you are further commanded to bring with you and produce before the court manuscript of the testimony given by Colonel W. B. Hazen, Sixth Infantry, before the Military Committee, House of Representatives, in 1872, also answers to interrogatories propounded to him at the same time by said committee (by the chairman thereof), both written and printed, and to then and there remain and abide the orders of the said court in the premises pursuant to the statute in such cases made and provided. Of your appearance before said court at the time and place stated in the summons fail not under penalties of the law.

Given under my hand this 16th day of April, A. D. 1879.

D. G. SWAIM,
Judge-Advocate, U. S. A., Judge-Advocate of the said Court.

having had the same under consideration, would respectfully submit the following report:

Section 1202 of the Revised Statutes provides that "every judge-advocate of a court-martial shall have power to issue the like process to compel witnesses to appear and testify which courts of criminal jurisdiction within the State, Territory, or district where such military courts shall be ordered to sit may lawfully issue," and the question which lies at the threshold of the investigation your committee has been required to make in this instance is whether, under that provision, a citizen can in any case be lawfully compelled to go out of the State, Territory, or district in which he resides to testify as a witness before a court-martial. In other words, whether the process which the judge-advocate is authorized by this section to issue may run to any part of the United States, as is the case with similar process from the circuit and district courts of the United States in criminal proceedings, or whether it is limited to the State, Territory or district in which such military court shall be ordered to sit.

If the first of these hypotheses is correct, the judge-advocate of a court-martial is certainly invested with the most extraordinary powers. He may compel a resident of Maine, under an unlimited penalty of fine and imprisonment, to abandon his home, his business, and his family to attend the trial of some trivial matter supposed to be "unbecoming an officer and a gentleman" pending before a military court sitting upon the borders of New Mexico, while upon similar process for a similar purpose the citizen may be taken from his home in the south of Florida to the northern boundary of Alaska.

Nor can it be claimed that it is indispensable or even necessary to the proper conduct of the public service or the security of private right that such a tremendous power should be conferred by law upon any military officer of the government. A court-martial may be ordered to sit at any time or at any place, and depositions of witnesses residing beyond the limits of the State, Territory, or district in which any military court may be ordered to sit, if taken on reasonable notice to the opposite party and duly authenticated, may be read in evidence before such court in any case not capital.

It is reasonable to presume, therefore, that if Congress intends to confer upon the judge-advocate of a court-martial a power so tremendous and at the same time so unnecessary, it would have done so in clear and unequivocal language—language about which there could be no possible mistake. There are several forms of expression in which such an intention could have been shown to the exclusion of all possible doubt. It might have been done by simply adding to the section the words "and such process may run into any State, Territory, or district of the United States," and that, too, without obscuring the meaning or marring the euphony of the sentence. Or if it had been the intention of Congress to confer upon the judge-advocate of a court-martial the same power to compel the attendance of witnesses before such court as that exercised for similar purposes by the circuit and district courts of the United States criminal cases, that intention could have been as clearly expressed.

That has not been done, however. The language of the statute is that the "judge-advocate of a court-martial shall have power to issue the like process to compel witnesses to appear and testify which courts of criminal jurisdiction within the State, Territory, or district where such military courts shall be ordered to sit may lawfully issue." What courts are here referred to? Certainly not the courts of the United States; first, because, as already remarked, if such had been the intention, the natural and obvious language would have been "the courts of the United States having criminal jurisdiction." And, second, because, if "the courts of the United States of criminal jurisdiction" are meant, the expression "within the State, Territory, or district where such military court shall be ordered to sit" is totally unnecessary and meaningless, for the power of the United States courts to issue process to compel witnesses to appear before them and testify in criminal cases is the same in every State, Territory, or district, no matter where such military court might be ordered to sit. It would seem, therefore, that the courts referred to in this section should be taken to be the courts of the State, Territory, or the district having criminal jurisdiction, and as their process to compel witnesses to appear and testify cannot run into another State, Territory, or district, neither can that of a court-martial sitting within their limits.

This construction of the section under consideration is not only authorized by the familiar rule of legal interpretation which requires a statute conferring summary power upon a court or officer to be construed strictly, but justified by other instances in which the mode of procedure in tribunals established by the laws of the United States is regulated by the laws of the State in which such courts are held.

For example, section 914 of the Revised Statutes provides that the practice, pleadings, and forms and modes of proceeding in civil causes, other than equity and admiralty causes, in the circuit and district courts, shall conform as near as may be to the practice, pleadings, and forms and modes of proceeding existing at the time in like causes in the courts of record of the State within which such circuit or district courts are held, any rule of the court to the contrary notwithstanding.

Again, it is provided in section 915 that "in common-law causes in the circuit and district courts the plaintiff shall be entitled to similar remedies by attachment or other process against the property of the defendant which are now provided by the laws of the State in which such court is held for the courts thereof; and such circuit and district courts may from time to time, by general rules, adopt such State laws as may be in force in the States where they are held in relation to attachments and other process: Provided, Similar preliminary affidavits or proofs and similar security, as required by such State laws, shall be first furnished by the party seeking such attachment or other remedy."

So, also, it is provided in the next section that the party recovering a judgment in any common-law cause in any circuit or district court shall be entitled to similar remedies upon the same, by execution or otherwise, to reach the property of the judgment debtor, as are provided in like causes by the laws of the State in which such court is held.

Another, however, and perhaps a stronger reason for the conclusion that it was never intended that the process which the judge-advocate of a court-martial is authorized by this section to issue should run beyond the State, Territory, or district in which such a court should be ordered to sit is, that during the same session of Congress, and by an act approved on the same day, the following provision was adopted as the ninety-first article in the rules and articles for the government and regulation of the Army:

"The depositions of witnesses residing beyond the limits of the State, Territory, or district in which any military court may be ordered to sit, if taken upon reasonable notice to the opposite party and duly authenticated, may be read in evidence before such court in cases not capital."

If, therefore, the construction of these two sections together justifies the conclusion that the process which the judge-advocate is authorized to issue to compel the attendance of witnesses cannot run beyond the limits of the State, Territory, or district in which the court-martial is ordered to sit, it follows that as the court before which Mr. Finch is desired to appear is sitting in the State of New York, he would be under no legal obligation to obey its subpœna if served upon him in the District of Columbia or elsewhere beyond the limits of that State.

There is a further question, however, and perhaps so far as this House is concerned a more important one, yet to be considered, and that is whether Mr. Finch or any other officer of the House has the right or can be lawfully compelled without the consent of the House to produce, in obedience to a subpœna duces tecum, any paper belonging to its files.

The rule as laid down in Archbold's Queen's Bench Practice (volume 1, page 353), on the authority of Lord Ellenborough in Amy vs. Long (9 East, 473), is that the writ of subpœna duces tecum is of compulsory obligation on a witness to produce papers thereby demanded which he has in his possession and which he has no lawful or reasonable excuse for withholding, of which excuse the court and not the witness must judge; and the same doctrine was substantially held by Chief-Justice Marshall in the trial of Aaron Burr (Burr's Trial, volume 1, page 188). The qualifications of this rule, however (that is, what constitutes a lawful or reasonable excuse for refusing to produce papers demanded by a subpœna duces tecum), are as much a part of the law as the rule itself; and one of the most obvious and important of these qualifications would seem to be that if the person to whom legal custody of the paper belongs could not be lawfully required to produce it, neither can the person in whose actual possession it may be found. Some of the American cases go to the extent, indeed, of asserting that a witness cannot be compelled to produce a paper upon a subpœna duces tecum unless he has the legal control as well as the actual custody of it. For instance, in the case of the president and directors of the Bank of Utica vs. Hillard (5 Cowen, 153) a subpœna duces tecum was issued at the instance of Hillard, the defendant in the action, commanding one Collings, the clerk of the bank (which was the plaintiff), to produce certain books and papers belonging to the bank, and upon his refusal to produce them the court said:

The obligation of Collings to produce the books upon the duces tecum depends on the question whether they were in his possession and under his control. He was the mere clerk of the plaintiffs, and in that character had no such property in or possession of the books as imposed the obligation to bring them. They were under the control of the cashier, who might forbid their removal or place them beyond the reach of the witness."

On a subsequent trial of the same case the defendant sued out a subpœna duces tecum commanding the cashier to produce them, and upon his refusing to do so a motion for an attachment against him was overruled on the ground "that the course for proving the books or papers of a bank where it is the adverse party is to give notice to produce them, and on its non-compliance to show the contents by other evidence as in other cases," which was equivalent to saying that as the bank could not be legally compelled to produce them neither could their cashier who had them in his custody and under his control. It may be added here that Chief-Justice Marshall in the trial of Burr was of the opinion that the subpœna duces tecum should be directed to the head of the department in whose custody the desired papers were, and not to a mere subordinate in whose actual possession they might be found.

If these principles are correct it is obvious that the file clerk could not be lawfully compelled by a subpœna duces tecum to remove any paper or document whatever from the files of the House. He is not even mentioned or recognized in the rules as an officer or employé of the House. He is merely an assistant employed by the Clerk to enable him to discharge one of the functions which from the necessity of the case or by unbroken practice and usage of the House pertains to his office, namely that of preserving and arranging the papers belonging to the archives of the House so that they may be immediately produced whenever the business of the House or the convenience of any of its members may require. He has no property in nor authority to remove a solitary paper from the files for any other purpose than those just specified. Were he to attempt to do so the Clerk could forbid it, remove the papers beyond his reach, or remove him from his position, as he might choose. It is scarcely necessary to add that if he cannot be compelled by legal process to take a paper from the files he has no authority to do so voluntarily, unless by the permission or under the direction of the House.

Nor has the Clerk of the House himself any such authority, either of his own volition or in obedience to a subpœna duces tecum. It is simply his duty, as one of the incidents of his office, to keep the files of the House, preserve the papers belonging to its archives, and see that they are arranged in convenient and proper order. He has no such property in possession of or control over them as to impose any obligation upon him to produce them before a court or to authorize him to do so of his own accord. They belong to the House, and are under its absolute and unqualified control. It can at any time take them from the custody of the Clerk, refuse to allow them to be inspected by any one, order them to be destroyed, or dismiss the Clerk for permitting any of them to be removed from the files without its expressed consent.

The reasons why the House should not only have, but be especially careful to maintain such absolute and unconditional control of the papers belonging to its archives, are as patent as they are manifold. As already intimated, they are preserved for the use of the House, and are liable at any time to be required by its members to facilitate the discharge of their various duties; and if they were allowed to be taken from the files at the pleasure of any of its officers, without its previous permission or direction, to be produced in court or carried elsewhere and kept an indefinite length of time, it is not difficult to see that inconvenience, delay, and uncertainty in the transaction of the business of the House might frequently be the result, to say nothing of the increased liability of the papers themselves to ultimate destruction or loss. And besides, instances might frequently occur in which the House could not consent to the use of papers belonging to its files in a public trial without a violation of good faith or a breach of public policy; especially in cases where witnesses have given testimony before the House or some of its committees tending to disgrace or render themselves liable to a criminal prosecution other than for perjury committed in giving such testimony. In this regard it has long been the settled and invariable practice of the English Parliament to refuse to permit the testimony taken before any of its committees to be used in any criminal proceeding involving the party who testified, provided he testified truly.

But again, it is a principle well understood that the President, the governor of a State, or the head of a department is not bound to produce papers or disclose information communicated to him when in his own judgment the disclosure would, on considerations of public policy, be improper or inexpedient (1 Greenleaf, E., section 251), and by parity of reason the House of Representatives, having the exclusive custody and absolute control of the papers belonging to its own archives, should judge for itself whether the production or inspection of these papers would be injurious to the public interests or not, and refuse or permit such production or inspection accordingly as its own judgment might dictate.

Of course your committee will not be understood as intimating that the House should refuse or even hesitate to do anything consistent with its duty to itself and the public interest to facilitate the ascertainment of truth or promote the proper administration of justice in any case pending in any court, civil or military, or that cases may not arise in which, upon a proper request, it would be the duty of the House to order that original papers belonging on its files be produced in a court, however remote from the seat of government, to be used as evidence in a cause there pending.

Such cases, however, will probably be of rare occurrence, and in others in which the House may deem it proper to refuse to permit original papers to be taken from its files, but shall consent that copies may be had, such copies upon being properly proven may be made available as evidence; and as it does not appear that the papers asked for in the present instance are to be used as evidence in any criminal proceeding against the party who gave the testimony embraced in them, your committee sees no reason why that course should not be pursued in this case. The adoption of the following resolutions is therefore recommended:

Resolved, 1. That no officer or employé of the House of Representatives has the right either voluntarily or in obedience to a subpœna duces tecum to produce any document, paper, or book belonging to the files of the House before any court or officer, nor to permit any copy of any testimony given or paper filed in any investigation before the House or any of its committees, or of any other paper belonging to the files of the House, except such as may be authorized by statute to be copied, and such as the House itself may have made public, to be taken without the consent of the House first obtained.

2. That the consent of the House is hereby given to either party in the case of the United States against Colonel D. S. Stanley, now pending before the general court-martial sitting in the city of New York, to have made and properly proven such copies of the papers mentioned in the subpœna duces tecum issued by the judge-advocate of said court, and directed to Ferris Finch, esq., file clerk of the House of Representatives, on the 16th instant, as may be desired, but that the originals thereof shall not be removed from the files of the House.

After debate,

Mr. Knott demanded the previous question; which was seconded and the main question ordered, and under the operation thereof the resolution accompanying the said report was agreed to.

Mr. Knott moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the said report be printed.

On motion by Mr. Stephens, by unanimous consent,

Ordered, That the previous order of the House of Saturday last be so modified that the House take a recess to-day at 5 o'clock and 10 minutes p. m. to 7 o'clock and 30 minutes p. m.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Atkins, the rules were suspended, and the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and after some time spent therein the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Blackburn reported that the committee, having had under consideration the bill of the House No. 2 (legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill), had come to no resolution thereon.

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted as follows, viz:

To Mr. Van Aernam, in the case of Charles Pratt and others;

To Mr. Whitthorne, in the case of Reuben S. Jones, A. M. Boyd, and Lucinda McGuire; and

To Mr. Willits, in the case of Mrs. Elizabeth B. Custer.

The Speaker laid before the House papers relating to the Congressional election held in the ninth Congressional district of Iowa November 5, 1878; which were referred to the Committee of Elections.

And then,

In accordance with its previous order, the House took a recess until 7 o'clock and 30 minutes p. m.

AFTER THE RECESS.

(7 o'clock and 30 minutes p. m.)

On motion of Mr. Waddill, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and after some time spent therein, Mr. Thompson took the chair as Speaker pro tempore, and Mr. Blackburn reported that the committee, having had under consideration the bill of the House (H. R. 2) making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and eighty, and for other purposes, had come to no resolution thereon.

The Speaker laid before the House the following message, received from the President of the United States on yesterday, viz:

To the House of Representatives:

I have maturely considered the important questions presented by the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes," and I now return it to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with my objections to its approval.

The bill provides in the usual form for the appropriations required for the support of the Army during the next fiscal year. If it contained no other provisions, it would receive my prompt approval. It includes, however, further legislation, which, attached as it is to appropriations which are requisite for the efficient performance of some of the most necessary duties of the government, involves questions of the gravest character. The sixth section of the bill is amendatory of the statute now in force in regard to the authority of persons in the civil, military, and naval service of the United States "at the place where any general or special election is held in any State." This statute was adopted February 25, 1865, after a protracted debate in the Senate, and almost without opposition in the House of Representatives, by the concurrent votes of both of the leading political parties of the country, and became a law by the approval of President Lincoln. It was re-enacted in 1874 in the Revised Statutes of the United States, sections 2002 and 5528, which are as follows:

SEC. 2002. No military or naval officer, or other person engaged in the civil, military, or naval service of the United States, shall order, bring, keep, or have under his authority or control, any troops or armed men at the place where any general or special election is held in any State, unless it be necessary to repel the armed enemies of the United States, or to keep the peace at the polls.

SEC. 5528. Every officer of the Army or Navy, or other person in the civil, military, or naval service of the United States, who orders, brings, keeps, or has under his authority or control, any troops or armed men at any place where a general or special election is held in any State, unless such force be necessary to repel armed enemies of the United States, or to keep the peace at the polls, shall be fined not more than $5,000, and suffer imprisonment at hard labor not less than three months nor more than five years.

The amendment proposed to this statute, in the bill before me, omits from both of the foregoing sections the words "or to keep the peace at the polls." The effect of the adoption of this amendment may be considered—

First. Upon the right of the United States Government to use military force to keep the peace at the elections for members of Congress; and—

Second. Upon the right of the government, by civil authority, to protect these elections from violence and fraud.

In addition to the sections of the statute above quoted, the following provisions of law relating to the use of the military power at the elections are now in force:

SEC. 2003. No officer of the Army or Navy of the United States shall prescribe or fix, or attempt to prescribe or fix, by proclamation, order, or otherwise, the qualifications of voters in any State, or in any manner interfere with the freedom of any election in any State, or with the exercise of the free right of suffrage in any State.

SEC. 5529. Every officer or other person in the military or naval service who, by force, threat, intimidation, order, advice, or otherwise, prevents, or attempts to prevent, any qualified voter of any State from freely exercising the right of suffrage at any general or special election in such State, shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, and imprisoned at hard labor not more than five years.

SEC. 5530. Every officer of the Army or Navy who prescribes or fixes, or attempts to prescribe or fix, whether by proclamation, order, or otherwise, the qualifications of voters at any election in any State, shall be punished as provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 5531. Every officer or other person in the military or naval service who, by force, threat, intimidation, order, or otherwise, compels, or attempts to compel, any officer holding an election in any State to receive a vote from a person not legally qualified to vote, or who imposes, or attempts to impose, any regulations for conducting any general or special election in a State, different from those prescribed by law, or who interferes in any manner with any officer of an election in the discharge of his duty, shall be punished as provided in section fifty-five hundred and twenty-nine.

SEC. 5532. Every person convicted of any of the offenses specified in the five preceding sections shall, in addition to the punishments therein severally prescribed, be disqualified from holding any office of honor, profit, or trust under the United States; but nothing in those sections shall be construed to prevent any officer, soldier, sailor, or marine from exercising the right of suffrage in any election district to which he may belong, if otherwise qualified according to the laws of the State in which he offers to vote.

The foregoing enactments would seem to be sufficient to prevent military interference with the elections. But the last Congress, to remove all apprehension of such interference, added to this body of law section 15 of an act entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1879, and for other purposes," approved June 18, 1878, which is as follows:

SEC. 15. From and after the passage of this act it shall not be lawful to employ any part of the Army of the United States, as a posse comitatus or otherwise, for the purpose of executing the laws, except in such cases and under such circumstances as such employment of said force may be expressly authorized by the Constitution or by act of Congress; and no money appropriated by this act shall be used to pay any of the expenses incurred in the employment of any troops in violation of this section, and any person willfully violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars or imprisonment not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

This act passed the Senate, after full consideration, without a single vote recorded against it on its final passage, and, by a majority of more than two-thirds it was concurred in by the House of Representatives.

The purpose of the section quoted was stated in the Senate by one of its supporters as follows:

Therefore I hope, without getting into any controversy about the past, but acting wisely for the future, that we shall take away the idea that the Army can be used by a general or special deputy marshal, or any marshal, merely for election purposes as a posse, ordering them about the polls or ordering them anywhere else, when there is no election going on, to prevent disorders or to suppress disturbances that should be suppressed by the peace officers of the State; or, if they must bring others to their aid they should summon the unorganized citizens, and not summon the officers and men of the Army as a posse comitatus to quell disorders, and thus get up a feeling which will be disastrous to peace among the people of the country.

In the House of Representatives the object of the act of 1878 was stated by the gentleman who had it in charge in similar terms. He said:

But these are all minor points and insignificant questions compared with the great principle which was incorporated by the House in the bill in reference to the use of the Army in time of peace. The Senate had already conceded what they called, and what we might accept as the principle, but they had stricken out the penalty, and had stricken out the word "expressly," so that the Army might be used in all cases where implied authority might be inferred. The House committee planted themselves firmly upon the doctrine that rather than yield this fundamental principle, for which for three years this House had struggled, they would allow the bill to fail, notwithstanding the reforms which we had secured, regarding these reforms as of but little consequence alongside the great principle that the Army of the United States, in time of peace, should be under the control of Congress and obedient to its laws. After a long and protracted negotiation, the Senate committee have conceded that principle in all its length and breadth, including the penalty, which the Senate had stricken out. We bring you back, therefore, a report, with the alteration of a single word, which the lawyers assure me is proper to be made, restoring to this bill the principle for which we have contended so long, and which is so vital to secure the rights and liberties of the people.

Thus have we, this day, secured to the people of this country the same great protection against a standing army which cost a struggle of two hundred years for the Commons of England to secure for the British people.

From this brief review of the subject it sufficiently appears that, under existing laws, there can be no military interference with the elections. No case of such interference has, in fact, occurred since the passage of the act last referred to. No soldier of the United States has appeared under orders at any place of election in any State. No complaint even of the presence of United States troops has been made in any quarter. It may, therefore, be confidently stated that there is no necessity for the enactment of section six of the bill before me to prevent military interference with the elections. The laws already in force are all that is required for that end.

But that part of section six of this bill which is significant and vitally important, is the clause which, if adopted, will deprive the civil authorities of the United States of all power to keep the peace at the Congressional elections. The Congressional elections in every district, in a very important sense, are justly a matter of political interest and concern throughout the whole country. Each State, every political party, is entitled to the share of power which is conferred by the legal and Constitutional suffrage. It is the right of every citizen possessing the qualifications prescribed by law, to cast one unintimidated ballot, and to have his ballot honestly counted. So long as the exercise of this power and the enjoyment of this right are common and equal, practically as well as formally, submission to the results of the suffrage will be accorded loyally and cheerfully, and all the departments of government will feel the true vigor of the popular will thus expressed.

Two provisions of the Constitution authorize legislation by Congress for the regulation of the Congressional elections.

Section 4 of Article 1 of the Constitution declares—

The times, places, and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations except as to the places of choosing Senators.

The fifteenth amendment of the Constitution is as follows:

SEC. 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

SEC. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

The Supreme Court has held that this amendment invests the citizens of the United States with a new Constitutional right which is within the protecting power of Congress. That right the court declares to be exemption from discrimination in the exercise of the elective franchise on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. The power of Congress to protect this right by appropriate legislation is expressly affirmed by the court.

National legislation to provide safeguards for free and honest elections is necessary, as experience has shown, not only to secure the right to vote to the enfranchised race at the South, but also to prevent fraudulent voting in the large cities of the North. Congress has, therefore, exercised the power conferred by the Constitution, and has enacted certain laws to prevent discriminations on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude, and to punish fraud, violence, and intimidation at Federal elections. Attention is called to the following sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States, viz:

Section 2004, which guarantees to all citizens the right to vote without distinction on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Sections 2005 and 2006, which guarantee to all citizens equal opportunity, without discrimination, to perform all the acts required by law as a prerequisite or qualification for voting.

Section 2022, which authorizes the United States marshal and his deputies to keep the peace and preserve order at the Federal elections.

Section 2024, which expressly authorizes the United States marshal and his deputies to summon a posse comitatus whenever they or any of them are forcibly resisted in the execution of their duties under the law, or are prevented from executing such duties by violence.

Section 5522, which provides for the punishment of the crime of interfering with the supervisors of elections and deputy marshals in the discharge of their duties at the elections of Representatives in Congress.

These are some of the laws on this subject which it is the duty of the Executive Department of the government to enforce. The intent and effect of the sixth section of this bill is to prohibit all the civil officers of the United States, under penalty of fine and imprisonment, from employing any adequate civil force for this purpose at the place where their enforcement is most necessary, namely, at the places where the Congressional elections are held. Among the most valuable enactments to which I have referred are those which protect the supervisors of Federal elections in the discharge of their duties at the polls. If the proposed legislation should become the law there will be no power vested in any officer of the government to protect from violence the officers of the United States engaged in the discharge of their duties. Their rights and duties under the law will remain, but the National Government will be powerless to enforce its own statutes. The States may employ both military and civil power to keep the peace, and to enforce the laws at State elections. It is now proposed to deny to the United States even the necessary civil authority to protect the national elections. No sufficient reason has been given for this discrimination in favor of the State and against the national authority. If well-founded objections exist against the present national election laws, all good citizens should unite in their amendment. The laws providing the safeguards of the elections should be impartial, just, and efficient. They should, if possible, be so non-partisan and fair in their operation that the minority—the party out of power—will have no just grounds to complain. The present laws have, in practice, unquestionably conduced to the prevention of fraud and violence at the elections. In several of the States members of different political parties have applied for the safeguards which they furnish. It is the right and duty of the National Government to enact and enforce laws which will secure free and fair Congressional elections. The laws now in force should not be repealed, except in connection with the enactment of measures which will better accomplish that important end. Believing that section six of the bill before me will weaken, if it does not altogether take away, the power of the National Government to protect the Federal elections by the civil authorities, I am forced to the conclusion that it ought not to receive my approval.

This section is, however, not presented to me as a separate and independent measure, but is, as has been stated, attached to the bill making the usual annual appropriations for the support of the Army. It makes a vital change in the election laws of the country, which is in no way connected with the use of the Army. It prohibits, under heavy penalties, any person engaged in the civil service of the United States from having any force at the place of any election prepared to preserve order, to make arrests, to keep the peace, or in any manner to enforce the laws. This is altogether foreign to the purpose of an Army appropriation bill. The practice of tacking to appropriation bills measures not pertinent to such bills did not prevail until more than forty years after the adoption of the Constitution. It has become a common practice. All parties when in power have adopted it. Many abuses and great waste of public money have in this way crept into appropriation bills. The public opinion of the country is against it. The States which have recently adopted constitutions have generally provided a remedy for the evil by enacting that no law shall contain more than one subject, which shall be plainly expressed in its title. The constitutions of more than half of the States contain substantially this provision. The public welfare will be promoted in many ways by a return to the early practice of the government, and to the true principle of legislation, which requires that every measure shall stand or fall according to its own merits. If it were understood that to attach to an appropriation bill a measure irrelevant to the general object of the bill would imperil and probably prevent its final passage and approval, a valuable reform in the parliamentary practice of Congress would be accomplished. The best justification that has been offered for attaching irrelevant riders to appropriation bills is that it is done for convenience' sake, to facilitate the passage of measures which are deemed expedient by all the branches of government which participate in legislation. It cannot be claimed that there is any such reason for attaching this amendment of the election laws to the Army appropriation bill. The history of the measure contradicts this assumption. A majority of the House of Representatives in the last Congress was in favor of section 6 of this bill. It was known that a majority of the Senate was opposed to it, and that as a separate measure it could not be adopted. It was attached to the Army appropriation bill to compel the Senate to assent to it. It was plainly announced to the Senate that the Army appropriation bill would not be allowed to pass unless the proposed amendments of the election laws were adopted with it. The Senate refused to assent to the bill on account of this irrelevant section. Congress thereupon adjourned without passing an appropriation bill for the Army, and the present extra session of the Forty-sixth Congress became necessary to furnish the means to carry on the government.

The ground upon which the action of the House of Representatives is defended has been distinctly stated by many of its advocates. A week before the close of the last session of Congress the doctrine in question was stated by one of its ablest defenders, as follows:

> It is our duty to repeal these laws. It is not worth while to attempt the repeal except upon an appropriation bill. The Republican Senate would not agree to, nor the Republican President sign, a bill for such repeal. Whatever objection to legislation upon appropriation bills may be made in ordinary cases does not apply where free elections and the liberty of the citizens are concerned. * * * We have the power to vote money; let us annex conditions to it, and insist upon the redress of grievances.

By another distinguished member of the House it was said:

> The right of the Representatives of the people to withhold supplies is as old as English liberty. History records numerous instances where the Commons, feeling that the people were oppressed by laws that the Lords would not consent to repeal by the ordinary methods of legislation, obtained redress at last by refusing appropriations unless accompanied by relief measures.

That a question of the gravest magnitude, and new in this country, was raised by this course of proceeding, was fully recognized also by its defenders in the Senate. It was said by a distinguished Senator:

> Perhaps no greater question, in the form we are brought to consider it, was ever considered by the American Congress in time of peace; for it involves not merely the merits or demerits of the laws which the House bill proposes to repeal, but involves the rights, the privileges, the powers, the duties of the two branches of Congress, and of the President of the United States. It is a vast question; it is a question whose importance can scarcely be estimated; it is a question that never yet has been brought so sharply before the American Congress and the American people as it may be now. It is a question which, sooner or later, must be decided, and the decision must determine what are the powers of the House of Representatives under the Constitution, and what is the duty of that House in the view of the framers of that Constitution according to its letter and its spirit.
> Mr. President, I should approach this question, if I were in the best possible condition to speak and to argue it, with very grave diffidence, and certainly with the utmost anxiety, for no one can think of it as long and as carefully as I have thought of it without seeing that we are at the beginning, perhaps, of a struggle that may last as long in this country as a similar struggle lasted in what we are accustomed to call the mother land. There the struggle lasted for two centuries before it was ultimately decided. It is not likely to last so long here, but it may last until every man in this Chamber is in his grave. It is the question whether or no the House of Representatives has a right to say, "We will grant supplies only upon condition that grievances are redressed. We are the representatives of the tax-payers of the republic; we, the House of Representatives, alone have the right to originate money bills; we, the House of Representatives, have alone the right to originate bills which grant the money of the people; the Senate represents States; we represent the tax-payers of the republic; we, therefore, by the very terms of the Constitution, are charged with the duty of originating the bills which grant the money of the people. We claim the right, which the House of Commons in England established after two centuries of contest, to say that we will not grant the money of the people unless there is a redress of grievances."

Upon the assembling of this Congress, in pursuance of a call for an extra session, which was made necessary by the failure of the Forty-fifth Congress to make the needful appropriations for the support of the government, the question was presented whether the attempt made in the last Congress to engraft, by construction, a new principle upon the Constitution should be persisted in or not. This Congress has ample opportunity and time to pass the appropriation bills, and also to enact any political measures which may be determined upon in separate bills by the usual and orderly methods of proceeding. But the majority of both Houses have deemed it wise to adhere to the principles asserted and maintained in the last Congress by the majority of the House of Representatives. That principle is that the House of Representatives has the sole right to originate bills for raising revenue, and therefore has the right to withhold appropriations upon which the existence of the government may depend, unless the Senate and the President shall give their assent to any legislation which the House may see fit to attach to appropriation bills. To establish this principle is to make a radical, dangerous, and unconstitutional change in the character of our institutions. The various departments of the government, and the Army and the Navy, are established by the Constitution, or by laws passed in pursuance thereof. Their duties are clearly defined, and their support is carefully provided for by law. The money required for this purpose has been collected from the people, and is now in the Treasury, ready to be paid out as soon as the appropriation bills are passed. Whether appropriations are made or not, the collection of the taxes will go on. The public money will accumulate in the Treasury. It was not the intention of the framers of the Constitution that any single branch of the government should have the power to dictate conditions upon which this treasure should be applied to the purpose for which it was collected. Any such intention, if it had been entertained, would have been plainly expressed in the Constitution.

That a majority of the Senate now concurs in the claim of the House adds to the gravity of the situation, but does not alter the question at issue. The new doctrine, if maintained, will result in a consolidation of unchecked and despotic power in the House of Representatives. A bare majority of the House will become the government. The Executive will no longer be what the framers of the Constitution intended, an equal and independent branch of the government. It is clearly the Constitutional duty of the President to exercise his discretion and judgment upon all bills presented to him without constraint or duress from any other branch of the government. To say that a majority of either or both of the Houses of Congress may insist upon the approval of a bill under the penalty of stopping all of the operations of the government for want of the necessary supplies, is to deny to the Executive that share of the legislative power which is plainly conferred by the second section of the seventh article of the Constitution. It strikes from the Constitution the qualified negative of the President. It is said that this should be done because it is the peculiar function of the House of Representatives to represent the will of the people. But no single branch or department of the government has exclusive authority to speak for the American people. The most authentic and solemn expression of their will is contained in the Constitution of the United States. By that Constitution they have ordained and established a government whose powers are distributed among co-ordinate branches, which, as far as possible, consistently with a harmonious co-operation, are absolutely independent of each other. The people of this country are unwilling to see the supremacy of the Constitution replaced by the omnipotence of any one department of the government.

The enactment of this bill into a law will establish a precedent which will tend to destroy the equal independence of the several branches of the government. Its principle places not merely the Senate and the Executive, but the Judiciary also, under the coercive dictation of the House. The House alone will be the judge of what constitutes a grievance, and also of the means and measure of redress. An act of Congress to protect elections is now the grievance complained of. But the House may, on the same principle, determine that any other act of Congress, a treaty made by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate, a nomination or appointment to office, or that a decision or opinion of the Supreme Court is a grievance, and that the measure of redress is to withhold the appropriations required for the support of the offending branch of the government.

Believing that this bill is a dangerous violation of the spirit and meaning of the Constitution, I am compelled to return it to the House in which it originated without my approval. The qualified negative with which the Constitution invests the President is a trust that involves a duty which he cannot decline to perform. With a firm and conscientious purpose to do what I can to preserve, unimpaired, the Constitutional powers and equal independence, not merely of the Executive, but of every branch of the government, which will be imperiled by the adoption of the principle of this bill, I desire earnestly to urge upon the House of Representatives a return to the wise and wholesome usage of the earlier days of the Republic, which excluded from appropriation bills all irrelevant legislation. By this course you will inaugurate an important reform in the method of Congressional legislation; your action will be in harmony with the fundamental principles of the Constitution and the patriotic sentiment of nationality which is their firm support; and you will restore to the country that feeling of confidence and security and the repose which are so essential to the prosperity of all of our fellow-citizens.

Whereas the presence of troops at the polls has heretofore been and may hereafter be necessary and proper for the suppression of illegal and powerful combinations of armed men in military array engaged in obstructing by force the due execution of the laws of the United States, and in destroying the freedom and peace of elections; and

Whereas experience has shown that the existence of the Republic, the supremacy of its laws, and the liberties of its people can only be maintained against the military and other powerful combinations of their enemies by the exertion of the military power of the government in subordination to the civil power in the support of the laws; and

Whereas the injunction of the Constitution that the President "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed" is equally binding in respect to the laws relating to elections, the course of justice, and all other laws of the United States without distinction of days, places, or occasions: Therefore,

Be it enacted, &c., That it shall not be lawful to bring to, or employ, at any place where a general or special election is being held in a State, any part of the Army or Navy of the United States, unless such employment be necessary to carry out the provisions of the Constitution of the United States, or to overcome forcible obstruction to the execution of laws made in pursuance thereof.

So the rules were not suspended (two-thirds not voting in favor thereof).

The Speaker laid before the House the following message, heretofore received from the President of the United States, viz:

To the House of Representatives:

After a careful consideration of the bill entitled "An act to prohibit military interference at elections," I return it to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with the following objections to its approval:

In the communication sent to the House of Representatives on the 29th of last month, returning to the House without my approval the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes," I endeavored to show by quotations from the statutes of the United States now in force, and by a brief statement of facts in regard to recent elections in the several States, that no additional legislation was necessary to prevent interference with the elections by the military or naval forces of the United States. The fact was presented in that communication that at the time of the passage of the act of June 18, 1878, in relation to the employment of the Army as a posse comitatus or otherwise, it was maintained by its friends that it would establish a vital and fundamental principle, which would secure to the people protection against a standing army. The fact was also referred to that, since the passage of this act, Congressional, State, and municipal elections have been held throughout the Union, and that in no instance has complaint been made of the presence of United States soldiers at the polls.

Holding as I do the opinion that any military interference whatever at the polls is contrary to the spirit of our institutions, and would tend to destroy the freedom of elections, and sincerely desiring to concur with Congress in all of its measures, it is with very great regret that I am forced to the conclusion that the bill before me is not only unnecessary to prevent such interference, but is a dangerous departure from long-settled and important constitutional principles.

The true rule as to the employment of military force at the elections is not doubtful. No intimidation or coercion should be allowed to control or influence citizens in the exercise of their right to vote, whether it appears in the shape of combinations of evil-disposed persons, or of armed bodies of the militia of a State, or of the military force of the United States.

The elections should be free from all forcible interference, and, as far as practicable, from all apprehensions of such interference. No soldiers, either of the Union or of the State militia, should be present at the polls to take the place or to perform the duties of the ordinary civil police force. There has been and will be no violation of this rule under orders from me during this administration. But there should be no denial of the right of the national government to employ its military force on any day and at any place in case such employment is necessary to enforce the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The bill before me is as follows:

Be it enacted, &c., That it shall not be lawful to bring to, or employ at, any place where a general or special election is being held in a State, any part of the Army or Navy of the United States, unless such force be necessary to repel the armed enemies of the United States, or to enforce section 4, article 4, of the Constitution of the United States, and the laws made in pursuance thereof, on application of the legislature or executive of the State where such force is to be used; and so much of all laws as is inconsistent herewith is hereby repealed.

It will be observed that the bill exempts from the general prohibition against the employment of military force at the polls two specified cases. These exceptions recognize and concede the soundness of the principle that military force may properly and constitutionally be used at the place of elections, when such use is necessary to enforce the Constitution and the laws. But the excepted cases leave the prohibition so extensive and far-reaching, that its adoption will seriously impair the efficiency of the executive department of the government.

The first act expressly authorizing the use of military power to execute the laws was passed almost as early as the organization of the government under the Constitution, and was approved by President Washington May 2, 1792. It is as follows:

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That whenever the laws of the United States shall be opposed, or the execution thereof obstructed, in any State, by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, or by the powers vested in the marshals by this act, the same being notified to the President of the United States by an associate justice or the district judge, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States to call forth the militia of such State to suppress such combinations, and to cause the laws to be duly executed. And if the militia of a State where such combination may happen shall refuse, or be insufficient to suppress the same, it shall be lawful for the President, if the Legislature of the United States be not in session, to call forth and employ such numbers of the militia of any other State or States most convenient thereto as may be necessary; and the use of militia so to be called forth, may be continued, if necessary, until the expiration of thirty days after the commencement of the ensuing session.

In 1795 this provision was substantially re-enacted in a law which repealed the act of 1792. In 1807 the following act became the law by the approval of President Jefferson:

That in all cases of insurrection or obstruction to the laws, either of the United States or of any individual State or Territory, where it is lawful for the President of the United States to call forth the militia for the purpose of suppressing such insurrection, or of causing the laws to be duly executed, it shall be lawful for him to employ, for the same purposes, such part of the land or naval force of the United States as shall be judged necessary, having first observed all the prerequisites of the law in that respect.

By this act it will be seen that the scope of the law of 1795 was extended so as to authorize the national government to use not only the militia but the Army and Navy of the United States in "causing the laws to be duly executed."

The important provision of the acts of 1792, 1795, and 1807, modified in its terms from time to time to adapt it to the existing emergency, remained in force until, by an act approved by President Lincoln, July 29, 1861, it was re-enacted substantially in the same language in which it is now found in the Revised Statutes, viz:

SEC. 5298. Whenever, by reason of unlawful obstructions, combinations, or assemblages of persons, or rebellion against the authority of the Government of the United States, it shall become impracticable, in the judgment of the President, to enforce, by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, the laws of the United States within any State or Territory, it shall be lawful for the President to call forth the militia of any or all the States, and to employ such parts of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary to enforce the faithful execution of the laws of the United States, or to suppress such rebellion, in whatever State or Territory thereof the laws of the United States may be forcibly opposed, or the execution thereof forcibly obstructed.

This ancient and fundamental law has been in force from the foundation of the government. It is now proposed to abrogate it on certain days and at certain places. In my judgment no fact has been produced which tends to show that it ought to be repealed or suspended for a single hour at any place in any of the States or Territories of the Union. All the teachings of experience in the course of our history are in favor of sustaining its efficiency unimpaired. On every occasion when the supremacy of the Constitution has been resisted, and the perpetuity of our institutions imperiled, the principle of this statute, enacted by the fathers, has enabled the government of the Union to maintain its authority and to preserve the integrity of the nation.

At the most critical periods of our history, my predecessors in the executive office have relied on this great principle. It was on this principle that President Washington suppressed the whisky rebellion in Pennsylvania in 1794.

In 1806, on the same principle, President Jefferson broke up the Burr conspiracy by issuing "orders for the employment of such force either of the regulars or of the militia, and by such proceedings of the civil authorities, * * * as might enable them to suppress effectually the further progress of the enterprise." And it was under the same authority that President Jackson crushed nullification in South Carolina, and that President Lincoln issued his call for troops to save the Union in 1861. On numerous other occasions of less significance, under probably every administration, and certainly under the present, this power has been usefully exerted to enforce the laws, without objection by any party in the country, and almost without attracting public attention.

The great elementary constitutional principle which was the foundation of the original statute of 1792, and which has been its essence in the various forms it has assumed since its first adoption, is that the Government of the United States possesses under the Constitution, in full measure, the power of self-protection by its own agencies, altogether independent of State authority, and, if need be, against the hostility of State governments. It should remain embodied in our statutes unimpaired, as it has been from the very origin of the government. It should be regarded as hardly less valuable or less sacred than a provision of the Constitution itself.

There are many other important statutes containing provisions that are liable to be suspended or annulled at the times and places of holding elections, if the bill before me should become a law. I do not undertake to furnish a list of them. Many of them—perhaps the most of them—have been set forth in the debates on this measure. They relate to extradition, to crimes against the election laws, to quarantine regulations, to neutrality, to Indian reservations, to the civil rights of citizens, and to other subjects. In regard to them all, it may be safely said that the meaning and effect of this bill is to take from the general government an important part of its power to enforce the laws.

Another grave objection to the bill is its discrimination in favor of the State and against the national authority. The presence or employment of the Army or Navy of the United States is lawful under the terms of this bill at the place where an election is being held in a State to uphold the authority of a State government then and there in need of such military intervention, but unlawful to uphold the authority of the Government of the United States then and there in need of such military intervention. Under this bill the presence or employment of the Army or Navy of the United States would be lawful and might be necessary to maintain the conduct of a State election against the domestic violence that would overthrow it, but would be unlawful to maintain the conduct of a national election against the same local violence that would overthrow it. This discrimination has never been attempted in any previous legislation by Congress, and is no more compatible with sound principles of the Constitution or the necessary maxims and methods of our system of government on occasions of elections than at other times. In the early legislation of 1792 and of 1795, by which the militia of the States was the only military power resorted to for the execution of the constitutional powers in support of State or national authority, both functions of the government were put upon the same footing. By the act of 1807 the employment of the Army and Navy was authorized for the performance of both constitutional duties in the same terms.

In all later statutes on the same subject-matter the same measure of authority to the government has been accorded for the performance of both these duties. No precedent has been found in any previous legislation, and no sufficient reason has been given for the discrimination in favor of the State and against the national authority which this bill contains.

Under the sweeping terms of the bill the national government is effectually shut out from the exercise of the right and from the discharge of the imperative duty to use its whole executive power whenever and wherever required for the enforcement of its laws at the places and times when and where its elections are held. The employment of its organized armed forces for any such purpose would be an offense against the law unless called for by, and, therefore, upon permission of, the authorities of the State in which the occasion arises. What is this but the substitution of the discretion of the State governments for the discretion of the Government of the United States as to the performance of its own duties? In my judgment this is an abandonment of its obligations by the national government; a subordination of national authority and an intrusion of State supervision over national duties which amounts, in spirit and tendency, to State supremacy.

Though I believe that the existing statutes are abundantly adequate to completely prevent military interference with the elections in the sense in which the phrase is used in the title of this bill and is employed by the people of this country, I shall find no difficulty in concurring in any additional legislation limited to that object which does not interfere with the indispensable exercise of the powers of the government under the Constitution and laws.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

The same having been read,

Mr. Knott submitted the following resolution, and demanded the previous question thereon, viz:

So a call of the House was ordered;

And thereupon the Clerk proceeded to call the roll, and was about to call over the names of the absentees,

When,

On motion of Mr. Talbott, all further proceedings under the call were dispensed with;

When

The morning hour expired,

The Speaker having announced the regular order of business to be the further consideration of the bill of the House (H. R. 564) to amend certain sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to coinage and the deposit of coin and bullion in the Treasury for certificates, reported from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, with amendments, on the 30th ultimo,

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the regular order of business under the previous order of the House was the bill of the House (H. R. 1604) to increase the efficiency of the National Board of Health, and to prevent the introduction into, or spread within, the United States of contagious and infectious diseases.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that under the amendment of April 9 last to Rule 51, requiring a vote of two-thirds to dispense with the morning hour, the unfinished business of yesterday (H. R. 564) came up immediately after the morning hour had expired, and that to hold otherwise would be to permit a majority to do what the rule prohibits, except by a vote of two-thirds. (For decision in extenso see Record.)

On motion of Mr. Casey Young, by unanimous consent,

Ordered, That the bill of the House (H. R. 1604) to increase the efficiency of the National Board of Health, and to prevent the introduction into, or spread within, the United States of contagious and infectious diseases, be made the special order after the pending bill (H. R. 564) is disposed of, said bill (H. R. 1604) to be considered from day to day until disposed of.

Mr. Young moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of section 9;

When

Mr. Warner submitted the following amendment, viz:

Amend section 9 by adding after the word "act," in line 1, the words except as provided in section eight; and after the word "account," in line 3, insert the words but the Secretary shall cause to be coined to the full capacity of the mints, in connection with other coinage, the gold and silver bullion deposited for coinage under this act; and by adding at the end of the section the following:

Provided, That in determining the market value of bullion for the purpose of ascertaining the charge for converting the same into coin, as provided by section three thousand five hundred and twenty-four of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the fourth section of this act, said market value shall be the value of the bullion in coin of the same metal at its legal-tender value.

So a call of the House was ordered;

And thereupon the Clerk proceeded to call the roll, and was about to call over the names of the absentees,

When,

On motion of Mr. Talbott, all further proceedings under the call were dispensed with;

When

The morning hour expired,

The Speaker having announced the regular order of business to be the further consideration of the bill of the House (H. R. 564) to amend certain sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to coinage and the deposit of coin and bullion in the Treasury for certificates, reported from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, with amendments, on the 30th ultimo,

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the regular order of business under the previous order of the House was the bill of the House (H. R. 1604) to increase the efficiency of the National Board of Health, and to prevent the introduction into, or spread within, the United States of contagious and infectious diseases.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that under the amendment of April 9 last to Rule 51, requiring a vote of two-thirds to dispense with the morning hour, the unfinished business of yesterday (H. R. 564) came up immediately after the morning hour had expired, and that to hold otherwise would be to permit a majority to do what the rule prohibits, except by a vote of two-thirds. (For decision in extenso see Record.)

On motion of Mr. Casey Young, by unanimous consent,

Ordered, That the bill of the House (H. R. 1604) to increase the efficiency of the National Board of Health, and to prevent the introduction into, or spread within, the United States of contagious and infectious diseases, be made the special order after the pending bill (H. R. 564) is disposed of, said bill (H. R. 1604) to be considered from day to day until disposed of.

Mr. Young moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The Speaker stated the pending question to be on the demand of Mr. Warner for the previous question on the first and second amendments reported from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures to section 8.

The previous question was seconded and the main question ordered, and under the operation thereof the first amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Warner moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question then being on the second amendment, viz:

In line 9 of section 8, strike out the word "ten" and insert the word five; so as to read: "issue certificates therefor in denominations of not less than $5 each," &c.;

Res. 74), authorizing Lieutenant Z. L. Tanner, of the United States Navy, late commanding Pacific Mail steamer City of Peking, to accept a pair of flower-vases and a lacquered box from the Japanese Government, was read twice, engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Cox moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

So the motion was not agreed to.

A message in writing was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Pruden, one of his secretaries, which was handed in at the Clerk's desk, informing the House that he did, on the 17th instant, approve and sign a bill of the House of the following title, viz:

H. R. 1377. An act to amend section fifty-four hundred and forty of the Revised Statutes.

Mr. McKenzie, by unanimous consent, submitted a resolution providing for the printing of the report of the military commission in the case of Major-General Don Carlos Buell; which was referred to the Committee on Printing.

The House then proceeded, as the regular order of business, to the consideration of the bill of the House (H. R. 564) to amend certain sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to coinage and coin and bullion certificates, and for other purposes, reported from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures on the 30th ultimo, with amendments, the pending question being on the motion to lay on the table the motion to reconsider the vote by which the main question was ordered, on which the yeas and nays had been ordered, which order, by unanimous consent, was vacated.

The Speaker stated that on yesterday he had overruled the point of order made by Mr. Garfield that a motion for the reconsideration of the main question was not in order when the same was partly executed, being governed in such decision by disjointed reports read from the Record as to the exact situation of the question, and he would accordingly withdraw that decision, and the question would then recur on agreeing to the eighth section as amended;

And being put,

The said section as amended was agreed to.

Mr. Ewing moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question recurring on agreeing to the eighth section as amended;

Pending which,

Mr. Ewing, by unanimous consent, moved to strike out of the amendment submitted by Mr. Buckner and adopted on yesterday the words "silver dollars," and insert in lieu thereof the words coin of the same metal; which motion was agreed to.

Mr. Daggett, by unanimous consent, moved to amend by adding after the words "Denver, Colorado," the words or with the superintendent of the branch mint in Carson City.

Pending which,

Mr. Maginnis, by unanimous consent, moved to amend the amendment by adding thereto the words and of the government assay offices;

When

Mr. Warner demanded the previous question on the section and amendments pending thereto; which was seconded and the main question ordered.

Mr. Garfield moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question then being on the amendment submitted by Mr. Daggett,

And being put,

The same was agreed to.

Mr. Daggett moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question then being on the amendment submitted by Mr. Maginnis,

And being put,

The same was agreed to.

Mr. Warner moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The eighth section, as amended, was adopted.

Mr. Warner moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of section 9;

When

Mr. Warner submitted the following amendment, viz:

Amend section 9 by adding after the word "act," in line 1, the words except as provided in section eight; and after the word "account," in line 3, insert the words but the Secretary shall cause to be coined to the full capacity of the mints, in connection with other coinage, the gold and silver bullion deposited for coinage under this act; and by adding at the end of the section the following:

Provided, That in determining the market value of bullion for the purpose of ascertaining the charge for converting the same into coin, as provided by section three thousand five hundred and twenty-four of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the fourth section of this act, said market value shall be the value of the bullion in coin of the same metal at its legal-tender value.

So the section will read as follows:

SEC. 9. That from and after the passage of this act, except as provided in section 8, only coins of smaller denominations than $1 shall be fabricated on government account; but the Secretary shall cause to be coined to the full capacity of the mints, in connection with other coinage, the gold and silver bullion deposited for coinage under this act; and in converting bullion into bars or coin for depositors, precedence shall be given in the order in which deposits are made; but this provision shall not prohibit the delivery of coin or stamped bars in exchange for bullion as soon as its value is ascertained: Provided, That in determining the average market value of bullion for the purpose of ascertaining the charge for converting the same into coin, as provided by section 3524 of the Revised Statutes as amended by the fourth section of this act, said market rate shall be the value of the bullion in coin of the same metal at its legal-tender value in the cities of New York and San Francisco for the week preceding such deposit: Provided further, That in the event silver bullion is not deposited under the provisions of this act available for coinage to the amount of $2,000,000 per month, then the Secretary of the Treasury shall continue to purchase, under the provisions of the law of February 28, 1878, sufficient silver bullion to coin $2,000,000 per month.

Mr. Warner demanded the previous question; which was seconded and the main question ordered.

Mr. Garfield moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question was then put on the amendment of Mr. Warner, and the same was agreed to.

Mr. Conger moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question then recurring on agreeing to the section as amended,

And being put,

The same was agreed to.

Mr. Warner moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The question then being on the following amendment, reported by the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures as an additional section, to come in as section 10, viz:

SEC. 10. That after the passage of this act the President shall signify to such foreign governments as he may deem advisable, that the United States is ready to co-operate with other nations in the establishment of a common ratio between gold and silver;

Pending which,

Mr. Conger moved to strike out the words "after the passage of this act"; which amendment was not agreed to.

The question recurring on the adoption of the amendment,

And being put,

The same was rejected.

Mr. Garfield moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Mr. Gillette submitted the following amendment, to come in as section 10 of the bill, viz:

All gold and silver certificates provided for by this act shall be a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, unless otherwise provided by contract;

And being put, viz:

Will the House agree thereto?

Mr. Money, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on the Post-Office and Post-Roads, reported a bill (H. R. 2020) to establish post-routes; which was read twice, engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Money moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

By unanimous consent, bills were introduced, severally read twice, ordered to be printed under the rules, and referred, as follows, viz:

By Mr. Nicholls: A bill (H. R. 2021) to vest the title to the United States Barracks in the city of Savannah, Georgia, in the corporation of said city for public uses; to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds.

By Mr. Sparks: A bill (H. R. 2022) granting a pension to James M. Forth, of Illinois; to the Committee on Invalid Pensions.

The House then proceeded, as the regular order of business, to the consideration of the bill of the House (H. R. 564) to amend certain sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to coinage, and coin and bullion certificates, and for other purposes, reported from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, with amendments, on the 30th ultimo, the pending question being the demand for the previous question on the engrossment and third reading of the bill as amended.

When

Mr. Warner withdrew the said demand.

And then

Mr. Thomas Ryan submitted the following amendment in the nature of a substitute:

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert the following, viz:

That there shall be coined at the several mints of the United States silver dollars of the weight of 412½ grains troy of standard silver, as provided by the act of January eighteen, eighteen hundred and thirty-seven, on which shall be the devices and superscriptions provided by said act, which coins, together with all silver dollars heretofore coined by the United States of like weight and fineness, shall be a legal tender at their nominal value for all debts and dues, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract; and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to purchase, from time to time, silver bullion, at the market price thereof, sufficient to carry out the provisions of this act, but the amount of money at any one time invested in such silver bullion, exclusive of coin, shall not exceed ten million dollars.

And the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to coin such silver bullion into such dollars as fast as the same can be done with the mintage capacity now existing or that may be hereafter provided, not however in any manner to interfere with the employment of such mints for the coinage of gold under existing laws—it being the intent and meaning of this act to employ the mints of the United States to their utmost capacity in the coinage of such silver dollars, subject to the necessary occupation of such mints for gold coinage as now provided for by law: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize the payment in silver of certificates of deposit issued under the provisions of section two hundred and fifty-four of the Revised Statutes.

SEC. 2. When the price of standard silver bullion shall equal the nominal value of the standard silver dollar the owner of silver bullion may deposit the same at any mint to be formed into bars, or into standard dollars, without charge therefor, for his or her benefit, and the same shall be so formed into such bars or dollars in the order in which it shall be so deposited; but it shall be lawful to refuse at the mint any deposit of bullion of less value than one hundred dollars, and any bullion so base as to be unsuitable for the operations of the mint.

SEC. 3. That any holder of the coin authorized by this act may deposit the same with the Treasurer or any Assistant Treasurer of the United States in sums not less than ten dollars, and receive therefor certificates of not less than ten dollars each corresponding with the denominations of the United States notes. The coin deposited for or representing the certificates shall be retained in the Treasury for the payment of the same on demand; said certificates shall be receivable for customs, taxes, and all public dues, and when so received may be reissued.

SEC. 4. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

And the question being put, viz:

Will the House agree to the said amendment?

So the motion was agreed to, and all further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

The question recurring on the demand of Mr. Townshend for the previous question;

Pending which

The morning hour expired.

Mr. Kenna, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the Committee did on the 26th instant present to the President of the United States bills of the House numbered respectively as follows, viz: H. R. 2 and H. R. 178.

Mr. Springer having proposed to submit an amendment to Rule 51,

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the motion to proceed to dispose of business on the Speaker's table, which motion he made, took precedence of any other business, and that the motion of Mr. Springer was not in order at this time.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that Mr. Springer had been recognized for the purpose stated by him; but that objection being made the resolution must lie over one day under the the rule, and thereupon directed the reading of said resolution.

Mr. Conger objected to its being read, and appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Pending which,

Mr. McMahon moved that the said appeal do lie on the table; on which motion the yeas and nays were ordered.

Pending which,

Mr. Brewer, at 1 o'clock and 30 minutes p. m., moved that the House adjourn;

And the question being put,

So the House refused to adjourn.

The question recurring on the motion of Mr. McMahon that the appeal of Mr. Conger from the decision of the Chair do lie on the table,

And being put,

The roll was thereupon called, and the name of Mr. Poehler having been called,

Mr. Hunton made the point of order that the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. having arrived, reports were now in order from the Committee for the District of Columbia.

The Speaker sustained the point of order, and the roll-call was thereupon suspended.

The Speaker stated the regular order of business to be the bill of the House (H. R. 1381) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Potomac River at or near Georgetown, in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, reported from the Committee for the District of Columbia on the 5th instant, and pending when the House adjourned on that day;

When,

On motion of Mr. Hunton, the consideration of the said bill was for the present postponed.

On motion of Mr. Hatch, by unanimous consent,

Ordered, That the bill of the House (H. R. 1378) to prevent the exportation of diseased cattle and the spread of infectious or contagious diseases among domestic animals be made a special order for to-morrow, after the morning hour, and from day to day thereafter, until disposed of, not to interfere with general appropriation bills or propositions relating thereto.

Mr. Henkle, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 2005), to confer upon the Commissioners of the District of Columbia the powers, duties, and limitations contained in chapter eight (Water Service) of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, reported the same with an amendment.

The House having proceeded to their consideration, the said amendment was agreed to, and the bill as amended, engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Henkle moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Burch, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed a bill of the House of the following title, viz:

H. R. 4. An act to provide for the exchange of subsidiary coins for lawful money of the United States under certain circumstances, and to make such coins a legal tender in all sums not exceeding twenty dollars, and for other purposes, with amendments;

in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

The Senate have passed a bill of the following title, viz:

S. 595. An act to amend an act for the relief of Joseph C. Collins, approved March 3, 1879;

in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives.

The President of the United States has notified the Senate that he did on the 20th instant approve and sign a bill of the Senate of the following title, viz:

S. 141. An act for the removal of the political disabilities of John S. Saunders, of Baltimore, Maryland.

Mr. Samford, also from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 1380) authorizing the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to issue twenty-year five per cent. bonds of the District of Columbia to redeem certain funded indebtedness of said District, reported the same without amendment.

The House having proceeded to its consideration,

Mr. McMillin submitted an amendment; which was agreed to, and the bill as amended was then engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Samford moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

Mr. Nelson W. Aldrich, from the same committee, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 1379) fixing the rate of interest upon arrearages of general taxes and assessments for special improvements now due to the District of Columbia, and for a revision of assessments for special improvements, reported the same without amendment.

The House having proceeded to its consideration;

After debate,

Mr. Heilman submitted an amendment; which was agreed to.

Mr. Cox, at 3 o'clock and 40 minutes p. m., moved that the House adjourn; which motion was disagreed to.

The said bill as amended was thereupon engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Nelson W. Aldrich moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the title be amended by adding the words and for other purposes.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

Mr. Wood, as a question of privilege, proposed to report from the Committee of Ways and Means a resolution fixing the day of final adjournment of the present session of Congress.

Mr. Hunton made the point of order that the said resolution was not in order at the present time, the Committee for the District of Columbia having the exclusive right to the floor for the remainder of the day's session when claimed by the said committee.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Springer) sustained the point of order, on the ground that reports from the Committee for the District of Columbia being in order only once a month at a particular hour named, it would be manifestly against the letter and spirit of that rule to permit other privileged questions to come in and interrupt said committee, which had the right to the floor (when claimed by them) after 2 o'clock p. m. on the third Monday of each month.

Mr. Edward L. Martin, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 1894) authorizing the employment of an inspector of plumbing in and for the District of Columbia and for other purposes, reported the same without amendment.

The House having proceeded to its consideration, the said bill was engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Edward L. Martin moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

Mr. Klotz, from the same committee, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 1856) authorizing the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to extend the area for the taking up and impounding of domestic animals into the county of Washington, reported the same with amendments.

The House having proceeded to their consideration, the said amendments were severally agreed to, and the bill as amended was engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Klotz moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the title be amended by striking out the words "county of Washington," and inserting in lieu thereof the words District of Columbia.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

Mr. Kenna, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined and found duly enrolled a bill of the Senate of the following title, viz:

S. 108. An act to prevent the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases into the United States;

When

The Speaker signed the same.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Kenna, at 4 o'clock and 20 minutes p. m., the House adjourned.

THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1879.

The following memorials, petitions, and other papers were laid on the Clerk's desk, under the rule, and referred as follows, viz:

to the Committee on the Revision of the Laws.

Mr. Johnston moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Mr. Gibson, from the Committee of Ways and Means, to which was referred the following resolution, viz:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives declare their respective Houses adjourned sine die at 12 o'clock m., — May, 1879; reported the following amendment in the nature of a substitute therefor, viz:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives declare their respective Houses adjourned sine die at twelve o'clock on the 10th day of June, 1879; which said substitute was laid over for the present.

A message in writing was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Pruden, one of his secretaries, which was handed in at the Speaker's table.

Mr. Goode moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said joint resolution.

Mr. Wilson, from the Committee on Printing, to which was referred the following resolution, viz:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That there be printed 15,000 copies of the consular reports, with the letter of the Secretary of State transmitting the same, showing the rates of wages, hours of labor, prices of food, and general condition of the working classes in the several countries of Europe; 8,000 copies for the use of the House, 4,000 copies for the use of the Senate, and 3,000 copies for the use of the Department of State; and that the amount of money necessary for the publication of the same be, and is hereby, appropriated out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated;

The House having proceeded to their consideration, the said amendment was agreed to; and the resolution as amended was then agreed to.

Mr. Gibson moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which later motion was agreed to.

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, laid before the House the following message, received this day from the President of the United States, viz:

To the House of Representatives:

After mature consideration of the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and eighty, and for other purposes," I herewith return it to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with the following objections to its approval:

The main purpose of the bill is to appropriate the money required to support, during the next fiscal year, the several civil departments of the government. The amount appropriated exceeds in the aggregate eighteen millions of dollars.

This money is needed to keep in operation the essential functions of all the great departments of the government—legislative, executive, and judicial. If the bill contained no other provisions no objection to its approval would be made. It embraces, however, a number of clauses relating to subjects of great general interest, which are wholly unconnected with the appropriations which it provides for. The objections to the practice of tacking general legislation to appropriation bills, especially when the object is to deprive a co-ordinate branch of the government of its right to the free exercise of its own discretion and judgment touching such general legislation, were set forth in the special message in relation to House bill number one, which was returned to the House of Representatives on the 29th of last month. I regret that the objections which were then expressed to this method of legislation have not seemed to Congress of sufficient weight to dissuade from this renewed incorporation of general enactments in an appropriation bill, and that my Constitutional duty in respect of the general legislation thus placed before me cannot be discharged without seeming to delay, however briefly, the necessary appropriations by Congress for the support of the government. Without repeating these objections, I respectfully refer to that message for a statement of my views on the principle maintained in debate by the advocates of this bill, viz, that "to withhold appropriations is a Constitutional means for the redress" of what the majority of the House of Representatives may regard as "a grievance."

The bill contains the following clauses, viz:

And provided further, That the following sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States, namely, sections two thousand and sixteen, two thousand and eighteen, and two thousand and twenty, and all of the succeeding sections of said statutes down to and including section two thousand and twenty-seven, and also section fifty-five hundred and twenty-two, be, and the same are hereby, repealed; * * * and that all the other sections of the Revised Statutes, and all laws and parts of laws authorizing the appointment of chief supervisors of elections, special deputy marshals of elections or general deputy marshals having any duties to perform in respect to any election and prescribing their duties and powers and allowing them compensation, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

It also contains clauses amending sections 2017, 2019, 2028, and 2031 of the Revised Statutes.

The sections of the Revised Statutes which the bill, if approved, would repeal or amend, are part of an act approved May 30, 1870, and amended February 28, 1871, entitled "An act to enforce the rights of citizens of the United States to vote in the several States of this Union, and for other purposes." All of the provisions of the above-named acts, which it is proposed in this bill to repeal or modify, relate to the Congressional elections. The remaining portion of the law, which will continue in force after the enactment of this measure, is that which provides for the appointment, by a judge of the circuit court of the United States, of two supervisors of election in each election district, at any Congressional election, on due application of citizens who desire, in the language of the law, "to have such election guarded and scrutinized." The duties of the supervisors will be to attend at the polls at all Congressional elections, and to remain after the polls are open until every vote cast has been counted, but they will "have no authority to make arrests, or to perform other duties than to be in the immediate presence of the officers holding the election, and to witness all their proceedings, including the counting of the votes, and the making of a return thereof." The part of the election law which will be repealed by the approval of this bill includes those sections which give authority to the supervisors of election "to personally scrutinize, count, and canvass each ballot," and all the sections which confer authority upon the United States marshals and deputy marshals, in connection with the Congressional elections. The enactment of this bill will also repeal section 5522 of the criminal statutes of the United States, which was enacted for the protection of United States officers engaged in the discharge of their duties at the Congressional elections. This section protects supervisors and marshals in the performance of their duties, by making the obstruction or the assaulting of these officers, or any interference with them, by bribery, or solicitation, or otherwise, crimes against the United States.

The true meaning and effect of the proposed legislation are plain. The supervisors, with the authority to observe and witness the proceedings at the Congressional elections, will be left; but there will be no power to protect them, or to prevent interference with their duties, or to punish any violation of the law from which their powers are derived. If this bill is approved, only the shadow of the authority of the United States at the national elections will remain; the substance will be gone. The supervision of the elections will be reduced to a mere inspection, without authority on the part of the supervisors to do any act whatever to make the election a fair one. All that will be left to the supervisors is the permission to have such oversight of the elections as political parties are in the habit of exercising without any authority of law, in order to prevent their opponents from obtaining unfair advantages. The object of the bill is to destroy any control whatever by the United States over the Congressional elections.

The passage of this bill has been urged upon the ground that the election of members of Congress is a matter which concerns the States alone; that these elections should be controlled exclusively by the States; that there are and can be no such elections as national elections; and that the existing law of the United States regulating the Congressional elections is without warrant in the Constitution.

It is evident, however, that the framers of the Constitution regarded the election of members of Congress in every State and in every district as, in a very important sense, justly a matter of political interest and concern to the whole country. The original provision of the Constitution on this subject is as follows (section 4, article 1):

> The times, places, and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators.

A further provision has been since added, which is embraced in the fifteenth amendment. It is as follows:

> SEC. 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.
> SEC. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Under the general provision of the Constitution (section 4, article 1) Congress, in 1866, passed a comprehensive law, which prescribed full and detailed regulations for the election of Senators by the legislatures of the several States. This law has been in force almost thirteen years. In pursuance of it all the members of the present Senate of the United States hold their seats. Its Constitutionality is not called in question. It is confidently believed that no sound argument can be made in support of the Constitutionality of national regulation of Senatorial elections which will not show that the elections of members of the House of Representatives may also be Constitutionally regulated by the national authority.

The bill before me itself recognizes the principle that the Congressional elections are not State elections, but national elections. It leaves in full force the existing statute, under which supervisors are still to be appointed by national authority, to "observe and witness" the Congressional elections whenever due application is made by citizens who desire said elections to be "guarded and scrutinized." If the power to supervise, in any respect whatever, the Congressional elections exists, under section 4, article 1, of the Constitution, it is a power which, like every other power belonging to the Government of the United States, is paramount and supreme, and includes the right to employ the necessary means to carry it into effect.

The statutes of the United States which regulate the election of members of the House of Representatives, an essential part of which it is proposed to repeal by this bill, have been in force about eight years. Four Congressional elections have been held under them, two of which were at the Presidential elections of 1872 and 1876. Numerous prosecutions, trials, and convictions have been had in the courts of the United States in all parts of the Union for violations of these laws. In no reported case has their Constitutionality been called in question by any judge of the courts of the United States. The validity of these laws is sustained by the uniform course of judicial action and opinion.

If it is urged that the United States election laws are not necessary, an ample reply is furnished by the history of their origin and of their results. They were especially prompted by the investigation and exposure of the frauds committed in the city and State of New York at the elections of 1868. Committees representing both of the leading political parties of the country have submitted reports to the House of Representatives on the extent of those frauds. A committee of the Fortieth Congress, after a full investigation, reached the conclusion that the number of fraudulent votes cast in the city of New York alone in 1868 was not less than twenty-five thousand. A committee of the Forty-fourth Congress, in their report, submitted in 1877, adopted the opinion that for every one hundred actual voters of the city of New York in 1868 one hundred and eight votes were cast, when, in fact, the number of lawful votes cast could not have exceeded eighty-eight per cent. of the actual voters of the city. By this statement the number of fraudulent votes at that election, in the city of New York alone, was between thirty and forty thousand. These frauds completely reversed the result of the election in the State of New York, both as to the choice of governor and State officers, and as to the choice of electors of President and Vice-President of the United States. They attracted the attention of the whole country. It was plain that if they could be continued and repeated with impunity free government was impossible. A distinguished Senator, in opposing the passage of the election laws, declared that he had "for a long time believed that our form of government was a comparative failure in the larger cities." To meet these evils and to prevent these crimes the United States laws regulating Congressional elections were enacted.

The framers of these laws have not been disappointed in their results. In the large cities, under their provisions, the elections have been comparatively peaceable, orderly, and honest. Even the opponents of these laws have borne testimony to their value and efficiency and to the necessity for their enactment. The committee of the Forty-fourth Congress, composed of members a majority of whom were opposed to these laws, in their report on the New York election of 1876, said:

> The committee would commend to other portions of the country and to other cities this remarkable system, developed through the agency of both local and Federal authorities acting in harmony for an honest purpose. In no portion of the world, and in no era of time, where there has been an expression of the popular will through the forms of law, has there been a more complete and thorough illustration of republican institutions. Whatever may have been the previous habit or conduct of elections in those cities, or howsoever they may conduct themselves in the future, this election of 1876 will stand as a monument of what good faith, honest endeavor, legal forms, and just authority may do for the protection of the electoral franchise.

This bill recognizes the authority and duty of the United States to appoint supervisors to guard and scrutinize the Congressional elections, but it denies to the Government of the United States all power to make its supervision effectual. The great body of the people of all parties want free and fair elections. They do not think that a free election means freedom from the wholesome restraints of law, or that the place of election should be a sanctuary for lawlessness and crime. On the day of an election peace and good order are more necessary than on any other day of the year. On that day the humblest and feeblest citizens, the aged and the infirm, should be, and should have reason to feel that they are, safe in the exercise of their most responsible duty and their most sacred right as members of society—their duty and their right to vote. The Constitutional authority to regulate the Congressional elections, which belongs to the Government of the United States, and which it is necessary to exert to secure the right to vote to every citizen possessing the requisite qualifications, ought to be enforced by appropriate legislation. So far from public opinion in any part of the country favoring any relaxation of the authority of the government in the protection of elections from violence and corruption, I believe it demands greater vigor both in the enactment and in the execution of the laws framed for that purpose. Any oppression, any partisan partiality, which experience may have shown in the working of existing laws, may well engage the careful attention both of Congress and of the Executive, in their respective spheres of duty, for the correction of these mischiefs. As no Congressional elections occur until after the regular session of Congress will have been held, there seems to be no public exigency that would preclude a seasonable consideration at that session of any administrative details that might improve the present methods designed for the protection of all citizens in the complete and equal exercise of the right and power of the suffrage at such elections. But with my views, both of the Constitutionality and of the value of the existing laws, I cannot approve any measure for their repeal, except in connection with the enactment of other legislation which may reasonably be expected to afford wiser and more efficient safeguards for free and honest Congressional elections.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

he Speaker sustained the said points of order on the ground that amendment proposed to add new matter to an appropriation bill ch had passed both Houses; and that while it was not in the power the House to restrict the Senate in the amendment of a House bill, House rules it was competent to require such an amendment, involv- an appropriation not germane to the bill, to receive its first consid- tion in the Committee of the Whole House.

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, announced the appointment of Mr. Robert M. McLane as a member of the Board of Visitors to attend the annual examination of the Military Academy at West Point in the place of Mr. Joseph E. Johnston, unable to attend.

Mr. Springer, as a question of privilege, submitted the following preamble and resolution, viz:

Whereas the Committee on Expenditures in the State Department, at the last session of the Forty-fifth Congress, reported articles of impeachment against George F. Seward, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to China, charging him with high crimes and misdemeanors in office, and specifying among others the following:

First. Extortion and bribery, while consul-general at Shanghai, China, in his official capacity as judge of the consular court at Shanghai, China;

Second. Loaning of the moneys of the United States, in his own name, to private parties, at high and exorbitant rates of interest, while consul-general at Shanghai, China, and, on default in payment, procuring the mortgages given to secure said loans to be foreclosed in the courts at Shanghai, China, he, the said Seward, sitting as judge and signing the decree for sale of the property described in said mortgages, and, after sale, confirming the title under said sale in himself;

Third. A violation of the treaties existing between the United States and the Emperor of China;

Fourth. Appropriating and converting to his own use fees which by law belonged to subordinate officials under him, without their consent;

Fifth. Returning false vouchers to the Government of the United States of moneys received by him;

Sixth. Embezzling large sums of money belonging to the United States and converting the same to his own use;

Seventh. Unlawfully removing from the office of consul-general at Shanghai, China, one John C. Myers, and appointing one Oliver B. Bradford, with intent thereby to conceal the evidence of his various crimes and misdemeanors while in office as consul-general aforesaid;

Eighth. Rendering false quarterly returns to the Government of the United States of moneys received by him in his official capacity as consul-general aforesaid, and as minister to Peking, China, aforesaid; and

Ninth. Specifying many other crimes and misdemeanors committed by the said Seward, both while consul-general and minister plenipotentiary as aforesaid, each and all of which brought disgrace upon the American people, and the Government of the United States into contempt with the empire to which he was the representative; and

Whereas the said House of Representatives did not finally act upon and dispose of said articles of impeachment at its last session, by reason of the fact that the House, when the question was put upon the resolution of impeachment, was left without a quorum; and

Whereas, notwithstanding the grave character of the crimes charged against the said George F. Seward, the Administration now in power have failed to remove the said George F. Seward as minister to China aforesaid; but have directed him to return to China as the representative of the American people to that government; and

Whereas the good name and interests of our government require that its representatives to the other countries of the world should be free from even the suspicion of criminality: Therefore,

Resolved, That the report of the Committee on Expenditures in the State Department, submitted at the last session of the Forty-fifth Congress, in the matter of the investigation of charges against the said George F. Seward while consul-general at Shanghai and envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to China, the articles of impeachment and resolutions reported thereon, together with all the testimony and proceedings taken by said committee on said investigation, be, and the same are hereby, referred to the Committee on the Judiciary; and that the said Committee on the Judiciary are hereby instructed to consider said report, resolutions, articles of impeachment, testimony, and proceedings, and by subcommittee, or otherwise as they may direct, to sit during vacation and take such other testimony as they may deem necessary, having power therefor to send for and compel the attendance of persons and the production of books and papers, and to report their proceedings and make such further and other report as they may deem necessary and expedient; such report to be made at as early a day as practicable during the next session of Congress.

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said preamble and resolution did not present a question of privilege, and also on the ground that the resolution conferred additional powers on a committee and involved the expenditure of money.

Mr. Calkins made the further point of order that testimony and evidence taken by the Forty-fifth Congress could not be taken cognizance of by the present Congress.

The Speaker overruled the said points of order on the grounds that the Constitution vested in the House the sole power of impeachment, and said question had been uniformly held to be one of privilege; that it was competent to confer additional authority upon a committee by the addition of instructions; that the resolution did not make or directly require an appropriation of money, and that it was competent for the present House to take notice of testimony or evidence taken by a preceding Congress, and that it has always been the practice to take papers and documents from the files of the House and refer the same to committees.

Mr. Springer demanded the previous question; which was seconded and the main question ordered, and under the operation thereof the said preamble and resolution were agreed to.

Mr. Springer moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Townshend, by unanimous consent, leave was granted for the withdrawal from the files of the House of the papers in the case of Peter Phillips and Jacob B. King.

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted as follows, viz:

To Mr. John S. Richardson, for twelve days from Friday; and

To Mr. Thomas Turner, indefinitely.

On motion of Mr. Whitthorne, by unanimous consent,

Ordered, That the letter of the Secretary of the Navy, transmitting the report of Captain Broome, United States Marine Corps, relating to the prison discipline of the United States and other countries, be printed and recommitted, not to come back on a motion to reconsider.

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, laid before the House executive communications; which were severally referred as follows, viz:

I. A letter from the Secretary of War, transmitting report of the General of the Army regarding House bill No. 1305, abolishing the military reservations of Forts Abercrombie, Seward, and Ranson, Dakota Territory; to the Committee on Military Affairs.

II. A letter from the Secretary of War, transmitting letter from the chief quartermaster Department of Texas in regard to advisability of erection of barracks and quarters at San Antonio, Texas;

to the Committee on Military Affairs.

III. A letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting a communication from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue relative to an estimated deficiency in the appropriations for salaries and expenses of agents, surveyors, and other officers of that bureau; to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said bill was not one of the matters which the Committee on Printing had the privilege to report at any time, and could only be reported (except by unanimous consent) on the regular call of the said committee.

The Speaker sustained the point of order on the ground that the decision of the Speaker in the second session of the Forty-second Congress, and affirmed by the House, that the Committee on Printing had the right to report at any time only on matters of printing, had established a practice that must govern the Chair until reversed by the House.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith the "proceedings and report" of the board of officers, convened by Special Orders No. 78, Headquarters of the Army, Washington, April 12, 1878, in the case of Fitz John Porter. The report of the board was made in March last, but the official record of the proceedings did not reach me until the 3d instant.

I have given to this report such examination as satisfies me that I ought to lay the proceedings and conclusions of the board before Congress. As I am without power, in the absence of legislation, to act upon the recommendations of the report further than by submitting the same to Congress, the proceedings and conclusions of the board are transmitted for the information of Congress, and such action as in your wisdom shall seem expedient and just.

R. B. HAYES.

The President of the United States has notified the Senate that he did on the 11th instant approve and sign a bill of the Senate of the following title, viz:

S. 572. To amend an act approved February 24, 1879, entitled "An act to create the northern judicial district of the State of Texas, and to change the eastern and western judicial districts of said State, and to fix the time and places of holding courts in said districts."

Also, that he did on the 12th instant approve and sign a bill of the Senate of the following title, viz:

R. 2328) with the same title; which said substitute was read twice.

The House having proceeded to its consideration,

Mr. Samford made the point of order that the said bill must, under Rule 112, receive its first consideration in Committee of the Whole House.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Townshend) overruled the point of order on the ground that the said bill did not involve or make an appropriation of money out of the Treasury of the United States, and that under the practice of the House bills of the character of the one under consideration were not liable to the point of order under said rule.

After debate,

Mr. Nelson W. Aldrich moved to amend by striking out the words "and other evidence of indebtedness" in line 10, section 1, and by striking out the words "and all outstanding written obligations of the levy court of said District"; which motion was agreed to.

Mr. Buckner submitted the following amendment; which was agreed to, viz:

In line 13, after the word "District," insert the following:

Provided, That said Court of Claims shall not take jurisdiction of any claim against the District of Columbia which was not presented to the board of audit under the provisions of the act of June 20, 1874, and of March 3, 1875, excepting such claims as have arisen out of contracts made by the District Commissioners since the passage of said act of June 20, 1874.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

Mr. Neal moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Sections 2, 3, 4, and 5, were then severally agreed to without amendment.

Mr. Neal moved to reconsider the vote by which section 2 was agreed to, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The House having proceeded to the consideration of section 6,

Mr. Samford submitted the following amendment, viz:

Add to the section the following proviso, viz:

Provided, That the Government of the United States is in no event liable for the payment of the principal or interest of any of the bonds authorized to be issued under the provisions of this bill.

Pending which,

Mr. Claflin moved to amend the amendment by striking out the words "or interest."

When

Mr. Neal, from the said committee, reported a bill (H. R. 2327) to authorize the renewal of a loan therein named by the joint stock company of the Young Men's Christian Association of Washington; which bill was read twice, engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

The President of the United States has notified the Senate that he did on the 11th instant approve and sign a bill of the Senate of the following title, viz:

S. 572. To amend an act approved February 24, 1879, entitled "An act to create the northern judicial district of the State of Texas, and to change the eastern and western judicial districts of said State, and to fix the time and places of holding courts in said districts."

Also, that he did on the 12th instant approve and sign a bill of the Senate of the following title, viz:

Mr. Slemons, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 298) to provide for the settlement of all outstanding claims against the District of Columbia, and conferring jurisdiction on the Court of Claims to hear the same, and for other purposes, reported a substitute (H. R. 2328) with the same title; which said substitute was read twice.

The House having proceeded to its consideration,

Mr. Samford made the point of order that the said bill must, under Rule 112, receive its first consideration in Committee of the Whole House.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Townshend) overruled the point of order on the ground that the said bill did not involve or make an appropriation of money out of the Treasury of the United States, and that under the practice of the House bills of the character of the one under consideration were not liable to the point of order under said rule.

After debate,

Mr. Nelson W. Aldrich moved to amend by striking out the words "and other evidence of indebtedness" in line 10, section 1, and by striking out the words "and all outstanding written obligations of the levy court of said District"; which motion was agreed to.

Mr. Buckner submitted the following amendment; which was agreed to, viz:

In line 13, after the word "District," insert the following:

Provided, That said Court of Claims shall not take jurisdiction of any claim against the District of Columbia which was not presented to the board of audit under the provisions of the act of June 20, 1874, and of March 3, 1875, excepting such claims as have arisen out of contracts made by the District Commissioners since the passage of said act of June 20, 1874.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

Mr. Neal moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Sections 2, 3, 4, and 5, were then severally agreed to without amendment.

Mr. Neal moved to reconsider the vote by which section 2 was agreed to, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The House having proceeded to the consideration of section 6,

Mr. Samford submitted the following amendment, viz:

Add to the section the following proviso, viz:

Provided, That the Government of the United States is in no event liable for the payment of the principal or interest of any of the bonds authorized to be issued under the provisions of this bill.

Pending which,

Mr. Claflin moved to amend the amendment by striking out the words "or interest."

Pending which,

Mr. Cox, at 4 o'clock and 25 minutes p. m., moved that the House adjourn.

Pending which,

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted to Mr. Loring for ten days.

Mr. Ward, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined and found duly enrolled bills and joint resolutions of the following titles:

S. 650. An act to remove the political disabilities of Arthur P. Bagby, of Texas;

S. 670. An act to remove the political disabilities of William N. R. Beall, of Missouri;

S. 669. An act to remove the political disabilities of James F. Harrison, of Virginia;

S. Res. 30. A joint resolution for the relief of Dr. C. W. Brink, bearer of dispatches from the United States minister at Mexico in 1869;

S. 697. An act to establish post-roads in certain States therein named; When

The Speaker signed the same.

The morning hour having expired,

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, laid before the House the fol- wing message, heretofore received from the President of the United tates, viz:

o the House of Representatives:

After careful examination of the bill entitled "An act making appro- riations for certain judicial expenses," I return it herewith to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with the following objections to its approval:

The general purpose of the bill is to provide for certain judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, for which the sum of $2,690,000 is appropriated. These appropriations are required to keep in operation the general functions of the judicial department of the government, and if this part of the bill stood alone there would be no objection to its approval. It contains, however, other provisions, to which I desire respectfully to ask your attention.

At the present session of Congress a majority of both Houses favoring a repeal of the Congressional election laws embraced in title 26 of the Revised Statutes, passed a measure for that purpose, as part of a bill entitled "An act making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes." Unable to concur with Congress in that measure, on the 29th of May last I returned the bill to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, without my approval, for that further consideration for which the Constitution provides. On reconsideration the bill was approved by less than two-thirds of the House, and failed to become a law. The election laws, therefore, remain valid enactments, and the supreme law of the land, binding not only upon all private citizens, but also alike and equally binding upon all who are charged with the duties and responsibilities of the legislative, the executive, and the judicial departments of the government.

It is not sought by the bill before me to repeal the election laws. Its object is to defeat their enforcement. The last clause of the first section is as follows:

> And no part of the money hereby appropriated is appropriated to pay any salaries, compensation, fees, or expenses under or in virtue of title 26 of the Revised Statutes, or of any provision of said title.

Title 26 of the Revised Statutes, referred to in the foregoing clause, relates to the elective franchise, and contains the laws now in force regulating the Congressional elections.

The second section of the bill reaches much further. It is as follows:

> SEC. 2. That the sums appropriated in this act for the persons and public service embraced in its provisions are in full for such persons and public service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and no department or officer of the government shall, during said fiscal year, make any contract or incur any liability for the future payment of money under any of the provisions of title 26 of the Revised Statutes of the United States authorizing the appointment or payment of general or special deputy marshals for service in connection with elections or on election day, until an appropriation sufficient to meet such contract or pay such liability shall have first been made by law.

This section of the bill is intended to make an extensive and essential change in the existing laws. The following are the provisions of the statutes on the same subject which are now in force:

> SEC. 3679. No department of the government shall expend, in any one fiscal year, any sum in excess of appropriations made by Congress for that fiscal year, or involve the government in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriations.
> SEC. 3732. No contract or purchase on behalf of the United States shall be made unless the same is authorized by law or is under an appropriation adequate to its fulfillment, except in the War and Navy Departments, for clothing, subsistence, forage, fuel, quarters, or transportation, which, however, shall not exceed the necessities of the current year.

The object of these sections of the Revised Statutes is plain. It is, first, to prevent any money from being expended unless appropriations have been made therefor; and, second, to prevent the government from being bound by any contract not previously authorized by law, except for certain necessary purposes in the War and Navy Departments.

Under the existing laws the failure of Congress to make the appropriations required for the execution of the provisions of the election laws would not prevent their enforcement. The right and duty to appoint the general and special deputy marshals which they provide for would still remain, and the executive department of the government would also be empowered to incur the requisite liability for their compensation. But the second section of this bill contains a prohibition not found in any previous legislation. Its design is to render the election laws inoperative and a dead letter during the next fiscal year. It is sought to accomplish this by omitting to appropriate money for their enforcement and by expressly prohibiting any department or officer of the government from incurring any liability under any of the provisions of title 26 of the Revised Statutes authorizing the appointment or payment of general or special deputy marshals for service on election days until an appropriation sufficient to pay such liability shall have first been made.

The President is called upon to give his affirmative approval to positive enactments which in effect deprive him of the ordinary and necessary means of executing laws still left in the statute-book, and embraced within his constitutional duty to see that the laws are executed. If he approves the bill and thus gives to such positive enactments the authority of law, he participates in the curtailment of his means of seeing that the law is faithfully executed while the obligation of the law and of his constitutional duty remains unimpaired.

The appointment of special deputy marshals is not made by the statute a spontaneous act of authority on the part of any executive or judicial officer of the government, but is accorded as a popular right of the citizens to call into operation this agency for securing the purity and freedom of elections in any city or town having twenty thousand inhabitants or upward. Section 2021 of the Revised Statutes puts it in the power of any two citizens of such city or town to require of the marshal of the district the appointment of these special deputy marshals. Thereupon the duty of the marshal becomes imperative, and its non-performance would expose him to judicial mandate or punishment, or to removal from office by the President, as the circumstances of his conduct might require. The bill now before me neither revokes this popular right of the citizens nor relieves the marshal of the duty imposed by law, nor the President of his duty to see that this law is faithfully executed.

I forbear to enter again upon any general discussion of the wisdom and necessity of the election laws or of the dangerous and unconstitutional principle of this bill, that the power vested in Congress to originate appropriations involves the right to compel the Executive to approve any legislation which Congress may see fit to attach to such bills, under the penalty of refusing the means needed to carry on essential functions of the government. My views on these subjects have been sufficiently presented in the special messages sent by me to the House of Representatives during their present session. What was said in those messages I regard as conclusive as to my duty in respect to the bill before me. The arguments urged in those communications against the repeal of the election laws and against the right of Congress to deprive the Executive of that separate and independent discretion and judgment which the Constitution confers and requires are equally cogent in opposition to this bill. This measure leaves the powers and duties of the supervisors of elections untouched. The compensation of those officers is provided for under permanent laws, and no liability for which an appropriation is now required would therefore be incurred by their appointment. But the power of the national government to protect them in the discharge of their duty at the polls would be taken away. The States may employ both civil and military power at the elections, but by this bill even the civil authority to protect Congressional elections is denied to the United States. The object is to prevent any adequate control by the United States over the national elections by forbidding the payment of deputy marshals, the officers who are clothed with authority to enforce the election laws.

The fact that these laws are deemed objectionable by a majority of both Houses of Congress is urged as a sufficient warrant for this legislation.

There are two lawful ways to overturn legislative enactments. One is their repeal; the other is the decision of a competent tribunal against their validity. The effect of this bill is to deprive the executive department of the government of the means to execute laws which are not repealed, which have not been declared invalid, and which it is, therefore, the duty of the Executive and of every other department of government to obey and to enforce.

I have in my former message on this subject expressed a willingness to concur in suitable amendments for the improvement of the election laws; but I cannot consent to their absolute and entire repeal, and I cannot approve legislation which seeks to prevent their enforcement.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

The call of States and Territories for bills on leave having been concluded, the Speaker proceeded to call the States and Territories for resolutions;

When

Mr. Acklen made the point of order that the first business in order under said call was the following resolution, submitted by him on the 23d of April last on the call of States and Territories for resolutions, viz:

Resolved, That a select committee of five members of this House be appointed by the Speaker, which committee shall have power to sit during the recess, to inquire into all claims of citizens of the United States against the Government of Nicaragua for indemnity for lives of relatives taken, wounds and other personal injuries inflicted, and property taken, injured, or destroyed, which claims have heretofore been filed in the Department of State and now remain pending and unsatisfied; and said committee shall ascertain and determine what amounts and to what persons the Government of Nicaragua is liable to make compensation on account thereof, and report the same, with the evidence in reference thereto, to Congress at its next session; and said committee shall give such public notice as it may deem necessary of the times and places when and where it will sit to hear said claims and testimony in support of the same, and shall have power to send for persons and papers, and administer oaths. It shall also obtain and use all proofs relative thereto on file in the Department of State, and such other evidence as any party in interest may produce and offer that it may deem pertinent thereto. It shall have power to employ a clerk and a stenographer; and the necessary expenses of said committee shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the House on the vouchers of the chairman of said committee.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that a proposition coming before the House under the operation of a particular rule took its place thereunder and was not entitled to status under the operation of another rule, thereby giving it an additional or double privilege not contemplated by the rules or in harmony with the practice of the House.

When

The morning hour expired.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Acklen, by unanimous consent, the said resolution was committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, not to be acted on during the present session, and ordered to be printed.

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, announced the appointment of Mr. Hazelton to be a member of the Committee for the District of Columbia, vice Mr. Bouck declined, and of Mr. Thomas L. Young to be a member of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. Rush Clark.

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, laid before the House the following message, heretofore received this day from the President of the United States, viz:

To the House of Representatives:

I return to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, the bill entitled "An act making appropriations to pay fees of United States marshals and their general deputies," with the following objections to its becoming a law:

The bill appropriates the sum of $600,000 for the payment, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, of United States marshals and their general deputies. The offices thus provided for are essential to the faithful execution of the laws. They were created and their powers and duties defined by Congress at its first session after the adoption of the Constitution in the judiciary act, which was approved September 24, 1789. Their general duties, as defined in the act which originally established them, were substantially the same as those prescribed in the statutes now in force.

The principal provision on the subject in the Revised Statutes is as follows:

SEC. 787. It shall be the duty of the marshal of each district to attend the district and circuit courts, when sitting therein, and to execute throughout the district all lawful precepts directed to him, and issued under the authority of the United States; and he shall have power to command all necessary assistance in the execution of his duty.

The original act was amended February 28, 1795, and the amendment is now found in the Revised Statutes in the following form:

SEC. 788. The marshals and their deputies shall have in each State the same powers in executing the laws of the United States as the sheriffs and their deputies in such State may have by law in executing the laws thereof.

By subsequent statutes additional duties have been from time to time imposed upon the marshals and their deputies, the due and regular performance of which are required for the efficiency of almost every branch of the public service. Without these officers there would be no means of executing the warrants, decrees, or other process of the courts, and the judicial system of the country would be fatally defective. The criminal jurisdiction of the courts of the United States is very extensive. The crimes committed within the maritime jurisdiction of the United States are all cognizable only in the courts of the United States. Crimes against public justice; crimes against the operations of the government, such as forging or counterfeiting the money or securities of the United States; crimes against the postal laws; offenses against the elective franchise, against the civil rights of citizens, against the existence of the government; crimes against the internal-revenue laws, the customs laws, the neutrality laws; crimes against laws for the protection of Indians, and of the public lands—all of these crimes, and many others, can be punished only under United States laws—laws which, taken together, constitute a body of jurisprudence which is vital to the welfare of the whole country, and which can be enforced only by means of the marshals and deputy marshals of the United States. In the District of Columbia all of the process of the courts is executed by the officers in question. In short, the execution of the criminal laws of the United States, the service of all civil process in cases in which the United States is a party, and the execution of the revenue laws, the neutrality laws, and many other laws of large importance, depend on the maintenance of the marshals and their deputies. They are in effect the only police of the United States Government. Officers with corresponding powers and duties are found in every State of the Union and in every country which has a jurisprudence which is worthy of the name. To deprive the national government of these officers would be as disastrous to society as to abolish the sheriffs, constables, and police officers in the several States. It would be a denial to the United States of the right to execute its laws—a denial of all authority which requires the use of civil force. The law entitles these officers to be paid. The funds needed for the purpose have been collected from the people and are now in the Treasury. No objection is therefore made to that part of the bill before me which appropriates money for the support of the marshals and deputy marshals of the United States.

The bill contains, however, other provisions which are identical in tenor and effect with the second section of the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for certain judicial expenses," which, on the 23d of the present month, was returned to the House of Representatives with my objections to its approval. The provisions referred to are as follows:

SEC. 2. That the sums appropriated in this act for the persons and public service embraced in its provisions are in full for such persons and public service for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and eighty, and no department or officer of the government shall, during said fiscal year, make any contract or incur any liability for the future payment of money under any of the provisions of title twenty-six, mentioned in section one of this act, until an appropriation sufficient to meet such contract or pay such liability shall have first been made by law.

Upon a reconsideration in the House of Representatives of the bill which contained these provisions it lacked a constitutional majority, and therefore failed to become a law. In order to secure its enactment, the same measure is again presented for my approval, coupled in the bill before me with appropriations for the support of marshals and their deputies during the next fiscal year. The object, manifestly, is to place before the Executive this alternative: Either to allow necessary functions of the public service to be crippled or suspended for want of the appropriations required to keep them in operation, or to approve legislation which in official communications to Congress he has declared would be a violation of his constitutional duty. Thus in this bill the principle is clearly embodied that, by virtue of the provision of the Constitution which requires that "all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives," a bare majority of the House of Representatives has the right to withhold appropriations for the support of the government unless the Executive consents to approve any legislation which may be attached to appropriation bills. I respectfully refer to the communications on this subject which I have sent to Congress during its present session for a statement of the grounds of my conclusions, and desire here merely to repeat that, in my judgment, to establish the principle of this bill is to make a radical, dangerous, and unconstitutional change in the character of our institutions.

On motion of Mr. Blackburn, by unanimous consent, the joint resolution of the Senate (S. Res. 39) in relation to committee clerks, pages, and other employés of the Senate and House of Representatives, and for other purposes, with amendments of the House thereto, and a message from the Senate requesting a conference with the House on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, was taken from the Speaker's table for present consideration.

On motion of Mr. Blackburn,

Ordered, That the same do lie on the table.

And then

Mr. Blackburn, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a joint resolution (H. Res. 118) in relation to committee clerks, pages, and other employés of the Senate and House of Representatives; which was read twice.

The House having proceeded to its consideration as in Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union,

After debate,

Mr. Blackburn demanded the previous question; which was seconded and the main question ordered, and under the operation thereof the said joint resolution was engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. Blackburn moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said joint resolution.

A message in writing was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Pruden, one of his secretaries; which was handed in at the Speaker's table.

Also, a message, which was handed in at the Clerk's desk, notifying the House that he did, on the 27th instant, approve and sign bills and joint resolutions of the House of the following titles, viz:

H. R. 2274. An act concerning the legislative assemblies of the several Territories of the United States;

H. R. 2002. An act making additional appropriations for the service of the Post-Office Department for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1879, and June 30, 1880, and for other purposes;

H. Res. 102. Joint resolution authorizing a survey of the Mississippi River near Lake Concordia, Louisiana, and Cowpen Bend, Mississippi;

H. Res. 114. Joint resolution donating granite blocks to Mower Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of New Orleans, Louisiana;

H. R. 2264. An act to amend section 1, page 234, volume 20, of the United States Statutes at Large, Forty-fifth Congress;

H. R. 2386. An act to amend the act entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes," approved June 23, 1879, by correcting two clerical errors therein; and

H. R. 1627. An act to authorize the construction of a railroad bridge across the Wabash River.

The Speaker, by unanimous consent, laid before the House the said message from the President.

The same having been read as follows, viz:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The bill making provision for the payment of the fees of United States marshals and their general deputies, which I have this day returned to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with my objections, having upon its reconsideration by that body failed to become a law, I respectfully call your attention to the immediate necessity of making some adequate provision for the due and efficient execution by the marshals and deputy marshals of the United States of the constant and important duties enjoined upon them by the existing laws. All appropriations to provide for the performance of these indispensable duties expire to-day. Under the laws prohibiting public officers from involving the government in contract liabilities beyond actual appropriations, it is apparent that the means at the disposal of the executive department for executing the laws through the regular ministerial officers will after to-day be left inadequate. The suspension of these necessary functions in the orderly administration of the first duties of government for the shortest period is inconsistent with the public interests, and at any moment may prove inconsistent with the public safety.

It is impossible for me to look without grave concern upon a state of things which will leave the public service thus unprovided for and the public interests thus unprotected, and I earnestly urge upon your attention the necessity of making immediate appropriations for the maintenance of the service of the marshals and deputy marshals for the fiscal year which commences to-morrow.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, June 30, 1879.

And any expenses incurred in the discharge of said duties shall be paid out of the contingent funds of the Senate and House, respectively, upon the certificate of the chairmen of said committees.

The said resolution was passed over for the present.

And it shall be, moreover, the duty of the said committees to report, from time to time, whether any, and what, retrenchment can be made in the expenditures of the several departments, without detriment to the public service; whether any, and what, abuses at any time exist in the failure to enforce the payment of moneys which may be due to the United States from public defaulters or others; and to report, from time to time, such provisions and arrangements as may be necessary to add to the economy of the several departments and the accountability of their officers.—March 30, 1816.

OF COMMITTEES OF THE WHOLE.

104. The House may at any time, by vote of a majority of the members present, suspend the rules and orders for the purpose of going into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and also for providing for the discharge of the Committee of the Whole House, and the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union—January 25, 1848—from the further consideration of any bill referred to it, after acting without debate on all amendments pending and that may be offered.—March 11, 1844.

105. In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman, to preside in committee, shall be appointed by the Speaker.—April 7, 1789.

106. Whenever the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, or the Committee of the Whole House, finds itself without a quorum, the chairman shall cause the roll of the House to be called, and thereupon the committee shall rise, and the chairman shall report the name of the absentees to the House, which shall be entered on the Journal.—December 18, 1847.

107. Upon bills committed to a Committee of the Whole House, the bill shall be first read throughout by the Clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble to be last considered; the body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined; but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House. After report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses before the question to engross it be taken.—April 17, 1789.

108. All amendments made to an original motion in committee shall be incorporated with the motion, and so reported.—April 7, 1789.

109. All amendments made to a report committed to a Committee of the Whole House shall be noted and reported, as in the case of bills.—April 7, 1789.

110. No motion or proposition for a tax or charge upon the people shall be discussed the day on which it is made or offered, and every such proposition shall receive its first discussion in a committee of the Whole House.—November 13, 1794.

111. No sum or quantum of tax or duty voted by a Committee of the Whole House, shall be increased in the House until the motion or proposition for such increase shall be first discussed and voted in a Committee of the Whole House; and so in respect to the time of its continuance.—November 13, 1794.

112. All proceedings touching appropriations of money and all bills making appropriations of money or property, or requiring such appropriations to be made, or authorizing payments out of appropriations already made, shall be first discussed in a Committee of the Whole House.—January 13, 1874.

113. The rules of proceedings in the House shall be observed in a Committee of the Whole House so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the times of speaking—April 7, 1789; but no member shall speak twice to any question until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.—December 18, 1805.

114. In Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, the bills shall be taken up and disposed of in their order on the calendar; but when objection is made to the consideration of a bill, a majority of the committee shall decide, without debate, whether it shall be taken up and disposed of, or laid aside: Provided, That general appropriation bills, and, in time of war, bills for raising men or money, and bills concerning a treaty of peace, shall be preferred to all other bills, at the discretion of the committee; and when demanded by any member, the question shall first be put in regard to them—July 27, 1848; and all debate on special orders shall be confined strictly to the measure under consideration.—March 16, 1860.

OF BILLS.

115. Every bill shall be introduced on the report of a committee, or by motion for leave. In the latter case, at least one day's notice shall be given of the motion in the House, or by filing a memorandum thereof with the Clerk, and having it entered on the Journal; and the motion shall be made, and the bill introduced, if leave is given, when resolutions are called for; such motion, or the bill when introduced, may be committed—April 7, 1789; September 15, 1837; and March 2, 1838. But the Speaker shall not entertain a motion for leave to introduce a bill or joint resolution for the establishment or change of post-routes, or for the improvement of rivers and harbors, and all propositions relating thereto shall be referred, under the rule, like petitions and other papers, to the appropriate committee.—May 5, 1870, and May 16, 1879.

116. Every bill shall receive three several readings in the House previous to its passage; and bills shall be dispatched in order as they were introduced, unless where the House shall direct otherwise; but no bill shall be twice read on the same day without special order of the House.—April 7, 1789.

117. The first reading of the bill shall be for information, and, if opposition be made to it, the question shall be. "Shall this bill be rejected?" If no opposition be made, or if the question to reject be negatived, the bill shall go to its second reading without a question.—April 7, 1789.

118. Upon the second reading of a bill, the Speaker shall state it as ready for commitment or engrossment; and, if committed, then a question shall be, whether to a select or standing committee, or to a Committee of the Whole House; if to a Committee of the Whole House, the House shall determine on what day—November 13, 1794; if no motion be made to commit, the question shall be stated on its engrossment; and if it be not ordered to be engrossed on the day of its being reported, it shall be placed on the general file on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in order—September 14, 1837. But if the bill be ordered to be engrossed, the House shall appoint the day when it shall be read the third time.—November 13, 1874.

119. General appropriation bills shall be in order in preference to any other bills of a public nature, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the House.—September 14, 1837.

And the House may at any time, by a vote of the majority of the members present, make any of the general appropriation bills a special order.—March 16, 1860.

120. No appropriation shall be reported in such general appropriation bills, or be in order as an amendment thereto, for any expenditure not previously authorized by law—September 14, 1837—unless in continuation of appropriations for such public works and objects as are already in progress; nor shall any provision in any such bill or amendment thereto, changing existing law, be in order except such as, being germane to the subject-matter of the bill, shall retrench expenditures.—January 18, 1876.

121. Upon the engrossment of any bill making appropriations of money for works of internal improvement of any kind or description, it shall be in the power of any member to call for a division of the question, so as to take a separate vote of the House upon each item of improvement or appropriation contained in said bill, or upon such items separately and others collectively, as the members making the call may specify; and if one-fifth of the members present second said call, it shall be the duty of the Speaker to make such divisions of the question, and put them to vote accordingly.—February 26, 1846.

122. The bills from the Court of Claims shall, on being laid before the House, be read a first and second time, committed to a Committee of the Whole House, and, together with the accompanying reports, printed.—March 16, 1860.

123. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend; and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.—March 16, 1822. Whenever a bill is reported from a Committee of the Whole, with a recommendation to strike out the enacting words, and such recommendation is disagreed to by the House, the bill shall stand recommitted to the said committee without further action by the House.—March 16, 1860. But before the question of concurrence is submitted, it is in order to entertain a motion to refer the bill to any committee, with or without instructions, and when the same is again reported to the House, it shall be referred to the Committee of the Whole without debate, and resume its original place on the calendar.—May 26, 1870.

124. After commitment and report thereof to the House, or at any time before its passage, a bill may be recommitted—April 7, 1789; and should such recommitment take place after its engrossment, and an amendment be reported and agreed to by the House, the question shall be again put on the engrossment of the bill.—March 16, 1860.

125. All bills ordered to be engrossed shall be executed in a fair round hand.—April 7, 1789.

126. No amendment by way of rider shall be received to any bill on its third reading.—April 8, 1814.

127. When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified by the Clerk, noting the day of its passage at the foot thereof.—April 7, 1789.

LOCAL OR PRIVATE BUSINESS.

128. Friday in every week shall be set apart for the consideration of private bills and private business, in preference to any other, unless otherwise determined by a majority of the House.—January 22, 1810; January 26, 1826; and May 8, 1874.

129. On the first and fourth Friday of each month, the calendar of private bills shall be called over (the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House commencing the call where he left off the previous day), and the bills to the passage of which no objections shall then be made shall be first considered and disposed of.—January 25, 1839. But when a bill is again reached, after having been once objected to, the committee shall consider and dispose of the same, unless it shall again be objected to by at least five members.—March 16, 1860; May 8, 1874.

OF BILLS ON LEAVE AND RESOLUTIONS.

130. All the States and Territories shall be called for bills on leave and resolutions every Monday during each session of Congress; and, if necessary to secure the object on said days, all resolutions which shall give rise to debate shall lie over for discussion, under the rules of the House already established; and the whole of said days shall be appropriated to bills on leave and resolutions, until all the States and Territories are called through.—February 6, 1838. And under this call resolutions for information from the Executive Departments may be offered for reference to appropriate committees, and such committees shall report thereon within one week thereafter.—May 1, 1879. And the Speaker shall first call the States and Territories for bills on leave; and all bills so introduced during the first hour after the Journal is read shall be referred, without debate, to their appropriate committees: Provided, however, That a bill so introduced and referred, and all bills at any time introduced by unanimous consent and referred, shall not be brought back into the House upon a motion to reconsider.—March 16, 1860, and January 11, 1872. And on said call, joint resolutions of State and Territorial legislatures for printing and reference may be introduced.—January 11, 1867. And all private bills and joint resolutions hereafter introduced which have been printed by order of either House of a preceding House, shall not be again printed at the expense of the Government until after a reference to a committee and report thereon with a favorable recommendation.—April 9, 1879.

OF PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

131. Members having petitions and memorials to present may hand them to the Clerk, indorsing the same with their names, and the reference or disposition to be made thereof; and such petitions and memorials shall be entered on the Journal, subject to the control and direction of the Speaker, and if any petition or memorial be so handed in which, in the judgment of the Speaker, is excluded by the rules, the same shall be returned to the member from whom it was received.—March 29, 1842.

OF THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

132. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?"—April 7, 1789. It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present—February 24, 1812; and its effects shall be to put an end to all debate, and to bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made; and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any; then—August 5, 1848—upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question.—January 14, 1840. But its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion. Whenever the House shall refuse to order the main question, the consideration of the subject shall be resumed as though no motion for the previous question had been made. The House may also, at any time, on motion seconded by a majority of the members present, close all debate upon a pending amendment, or an amendment thereto, and cause the question to be put thereon; and this shall not preclude any further amendment or debate upon the bill. A call of the House shall not be in order after the previous question is seconded, unless it shall appear, upon an actual count by the Speaker, that no quorum is present.—March 16, 1860.

133. On a previous question there shall be no debate.—December 17, 1805. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.—September 15, 1837.

OF ADMISSION ON THE FLOOR.

134. No person except members of the Senate, their Secretary, heads of departments, the President's private secretary, foreign ministers, the governor for the time being of any State, Senators and Representatives elect, judges of the Supreme Court of the United States and of the Court of Claims, and such persons as have by name received the thanks of Congress—March 15, 1867—shall be admitted within the hall of the House of Representatives—March 19, 1860—or any of the rooms upon the same floor or leading into the same—March 2, 1865: Provided, That ex-members of Congress who are not interested in any claim pending before Congress, and shall so register themselves, may also be admitted within the hall of the House; and no persons except those herein specified shall at any time be admitted to the floor of the House.—March 15, 1867.

OF REPORTERS.

135. Stenographers and reporters, other than the official reporters of the House, wishing to take down the debates, may be admitted by the Speaker to the reporters' gallery over the Speaker's chair, but not on the floor of the House; but no person shall be allowed the privilege of said gallery under the character of stenographer or reporter without a written permission of the Speaker, specifying the part of said gallery assigned to him; nor shall said stenographer or reporter be admitted to said gallery unless he shall state in writing for what paper or papers he is employed to report; nor shall he be so admitted, or, if admitted, be suffered to retain his seat, if he shall be or become an agent to prosecute any claim pending before Congress; and the Speaker shall give his written permission with this condition.—December 23, 1857.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS OF THE SESSION.

136. After six days from the commencement of a second or subsequent session of any Congress, all bills, resolutions, and reports which originated in the House, and at the close of the next preceding session remained undetermined, shall be resumed and acted on in the same manner as if an adjournment had not taken place.—March 17, 1848. And all business before committees of the House at the end of one session shall be resumed at the commencement of the next session of the same Congress, as if no adjournment had taken place.—March 16, 1860.

MISCELLANEOUS.

137. Whenever confidential communications are received from the President of the United States, the House shall be cleared of all persons, except the members, Clerk, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper, and so continue during the reading of such communications, and (unless otherwise directed by the House) during all debates and proceedings to be had thereon. And when the Speaker, or any other member, shall inform the House that he has communications to make which he conceives ought to be kept secret, the House shall, in like manner, be cleared till the communication be made; the House shall then determine whether the matter communicated requires secrecy or not, and take order accordingly.—February 17, 1792, and December 30, 1793.

138. The rule for paying witnesses summoned to appear before this House, or either of its committees, shall be as follows: For each day a witness shall attend, the sum of four dollars; for each mile he shall travel in coming to or going from the place of examination, the sum of five cents each way; but nothing shall be paid for traveling when the witness has been summoned at the place of trial.—May 21, 1872.

141. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.—November 13, 1794.

142. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon again during the session.—December 17, 1805.

143. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate shall be necessary, shall be read to the House, and laid on the table, on a day preceding that in which the same shall be moved, unless the House shall otherwise expressly allow.—April 7, 1789.

144. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House, and joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.—September 15, 1837.

145. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor—November 13, 1794; nor shall any rule be suspended, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present—March 13, 1822; nor shall the order of business, as established by the rules, be postponed or changed, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present; nor shall the Speaker entertain a motion to suspend the rules, except during the last six days of the session, and on Monday of every week at the expiration of one hour after the Journal is read—April 26, 1828, and June 22, 1874—unless the call of States and Territories for bills on leave and resolutions has been earlier concluded, when the Speaker may entertain a motion to suspend the rules.—June 8, 1864.

146. All elections of officers of the House, including the Speaker, shall be conducted in accordance with these rules, so far as the same are applicable; and, pending the election of the Speaker, the Clerk shall preserve order and decorum, and shall decide all questions of order that may arise, subject to appeal to the House.—March 19, 1860.

147. These rules shall be the rules of the House of Representatives of the present and succeeding Congresses unless otherwise ordered.—March 19, 1860.

148. An additional standing committee shall be appointed at the commencement of each Congress, whose duties shall continue until the first session of the ensuing Congress, to consist of seven members, to be entitled a "Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures"; and to this committee shall be referred all bills, resolutions, and communications to the House upon that subject.—January 21, 1864; March 2, 1867.

149. The names of members not voting on any call of the ayes and noes shall be recorded in the Journal immediately after those voting in the affirmative and negative, and the same record shall be made in the Congressional Globe.—June 8, 1864.

150. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Pacific Railroad to take into consideration all such petitions and matters or things relative to railroads or telegraph lines between the Mississippi Valley and the Pacific coast as shall be presented or shall come in question, and be referred to them by the House, and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto as to them shall seem expedient.—March 2, 1865.

151. 11. When the Senate and House of Representatives shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the President, it shall be presented to him in his audience chamber by the President of the Senate, in the presence of the Speaker and both houses.—November 13, 1794.

19. No spirituous or malt liquors, or wines, shall be offered for sale, exhibited, or kept within the Capitol, or in any room or building connected therewith, or on the public grounds adjacent thereto. And it shall be the duty of the Sergeants-at-Arms of the two houses, under the supervision of the presiding officers thereof, respectively, to enforce the foregoing provisions. And any officer or employé of either house who shall in any manner violate or connive at the violation of this rule shall be dismissed from office.—March 18, 1867.

20. There shall be a joint committee on the Library, to consist of three members on the part of the Senate, and three on the part of the House of Representatives, to superintend and direct the expenditure of all moneys appropriated for the Library, and to perform such other duties as are or may be directed by law.—December 7, 1843.

21. 22. The two houses shall assemble in the hall of the House of Representatives at the hour of 1 o'clock p. m., on the second Wednesday in February next succeeding the meeting of the electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, and the President of the Senate shall be their presiding officer; one teller shall be appointed on the part of the Senate, and two on the part of the House of Representatives, to whom shall be handed, as they are opened by the President of the Senate, the certificates of the electoral votes; and said tellers having read the same in the presence and hearing of the two houses thus assembled, shall make a list of the votes as they shall appear from the said certificates; and the votes having been counted, the result of the same shall be delivered to the President of the Senate, who shall thereupon announce the state of the vote and the names of the persons, if any, elected, which announcement shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of the persons elected President and Vice-President of the United States, and, together with a list of the votes, be entered on the Journals of the two houses.

If, upon the reading of any such certificate by the tellers, any question shall arise in regard to counting the votes therein certified, the same having been stated by the presiding officer, the Senate shall thereupon withdraw, and said question shall be submitted to that body for its decision; and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall, in like manner, submit said question to the House of Representatives for its decision. And no question shall be decided affirmatively, and no vote objected to shall be counted, except by the concurrent vote of the two houses; which being obtained, the two houses shall immediately reassemble, and the presiding officer shall then announce the decision of the question submitted; and upon any such question there shall be no debate in either house. And any other question pertinent to the object for which the two houses are assembled may be submitted and determined in like manner.

At such joint meeting of the two houses seats shall be provided as follows: For the President of the Senate, the "Speaker's chair"; for the Speaker, a chair immediately upon his left; for the Senators, in the body of the hall upon the right of the presiding officer; for the Representatives, in the body of the hall not occupied by the Senators; for the tellers, Secretary of the Senate, and Clerk of the House of Representatives, at the Clerk's desk; for the other officers of the two houses, in front of the Clerk's desk and upon either side of the Speaker's platform.

Such joint meeting shall not be dissolved until the electoral votes are all counted and the result declared; and no recess shall be taken, unless a question shall have arisen in regard to counting any of such votes, in which case it shall be competent for either house, acting separately in the manner hereinbefore provided, to direct a recess not beyond the next day, at the hour of 1 o'clock p. m.—February 6, 1865.

[For action of the two houses with respect to the joint rules see Journal House of Representatives, first session Forty-third Congress, pp. 239, 1470, 1477, and 1478. No action thereon was taken during the present session; but as business was transacted between the two houses in the mode prescribed by the same, it is deemed proper to insert them as they existed at the close of the Forty-third Congress.]

The pending question being the point of order made by Mr. Buckner, Ordered, That the bill be read a second time.
The bill was thereupon read a second time.
After debate,
The point of order was waived, and Mr. Buckner moved the reference of the said bill to the Committee on Banking and Currency.
Mr. Stephens demanded the previous question thereon; which was seconded and the main question ordered, and under the operation thereof the said motion of Mr. Buckner was disagreed to.

APRIL 22, 1879.—Page 179.

(The House having under consideration H. R. 4.)
The question then being on the following amendment, submitted by Mr. Newberry, to section 1, viz:
Add to the first section the following words:
And that all coins of every description of the United States of the face value of twenty-five cents and under shall be received at all post-offices for the payment of postage or the purchase of postage-stamps in any sum not exceeding three dollars.
Mr. Garfield made the point of order that the said amendment was not in order, section 2 having been passed.
The Speaker sustained the point of order;
When
Mr. Newberry modified his motion and submitted the said amendment as an additional section.
Mr. Stephens demanded the previous question; which was seconded, and the main question ordered.
Mr. Stephens moved to reconsider the vote last taken, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.
The question being put on the adoption of the amendment submitted by Mr. Newberry, the same was agreed to.
The question then being on the adoption of the amendment submitted by Mr. Fort;
When
Mr. Fort, by unanimous consent, withdrew the same.
The question then being on the amendment submitted by Mr. Ryan to section 3;
When
Mr. Reed made the point of order that the said amendment was not in order, the said section having been passed.
The Speaker sustained the point of order.
There being no amendment to section 4, the same was changed to section 5.
The question then being on the substitute submitted by Mr. Willis, on Saturday last, on which Mr. Hawley made the point of order that the same, not being germane to the pending bill, was not in order,
The Speaker having entertained the point of order,
Mr. M lls, by unanimous consent, withdrew the said substitute.

Mr. John T. Harris, also from the Committee on the Revision of the Laws, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 1493) defining the duties of reporter of the Supreme Court of the United States, fixing

APRIL 14, 1879.—Page 73.

The Speaker having announced as the regular order of business the call of States and Territories for bills on leave, commencing with the State of Maine;

When

Mr. Ladd introduced a bill of the following title, viz: "A bill to authorize the owner of silver bullion to have it coined into standard silver dollars, and for other purposes."

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said bill was not in order under this call, notice thereof not having been given as provided and required by Rule 115.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that under Rule 130 notice was not required for the introduction of a bill on the call of States and Territories on Monday.

Mr. Conger appealed from the decision of the Chair.

After debate thereon,

Mr. Cox moved that the said appeal do lie on the table;

And the question being put,

It was decided in the affirmative, { Yeas ..... 139 / Nays ..... 74 / Not voting ..... 73 }

So the appeal from the decision of the Chair was laid on the table.

APRIL 16, 1879.—Page 88.

Mr. Stephens, from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, reported a bill to provide for the interchange of subsidiary coins for legal-tender money under certain circumstances, and to make such coins a legal tender in all sums not exceeding ten dollars.

The bill having been read a first time,

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said bill was not in order to be reported from the said committee, the subject-matter thereof not having been referred by the House to the said committee, either by rule or otherwise.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that it was competent for a committee to report a bill based on a petition properly referred to such committee, and in the present case the bill under consideration was based upon a petition regularly referred under Rule 132 to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures.

Mr. Buckner made the further point of order that the subject-matter of the pending bill, under the rules, belonged to the Committee on Banking and Currency, and was not in order to be reported by the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures.

Pending which,

The morning hour expired.

APRIL 17, 1879.—Page 90.

The Speaker proceeded, as the regular order of business, to call the committees for reports, and, as the first business in order under said call, resumed the consideration of the bill of the following title, reported from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, by Mr. Stephens, on yesterday, viz: "A bill to provide for the interchange of subsidiary coins for legal-tender money under certain circumstances, and to make such coins a legal tender in all sums not exceeding ten dollars."

SAME DAY.—Pages 357, 358.

(The House having under consideration H. R. 564.)

Mr. White moved to reconsider the vote by which the main question was ordered on the pending section and amendments pending thereto.

Pending which,

Mr. Conger moved that the said motion to reconsider do lie on the table.

Mr. Garfield made the point of order that the previous question had been partly executed, and that the said motion to reconsider was not in order.

The Speaker overruled the point of order, first, on the ground that it was made too late, and also on the further ground that the motion to reconsider was a privileged motion, and that it had not been made on the vote ordering the main question and laid upon the table.

MAY 23, 1879.—Page 361.

The Speaker then proceeded, as the regular order of business, to call the committees for reports of a private nature, and announced, as the first business in order under said call, the bill of the House (H. R. 2004(to confirm the title of Charles Oliver Duclozel to certain lands in the State of Louisiana, reported from the Committee on Private Land Claims on the 16th instant, and pending when the morning hour then expired; upon which bill Mr. Conger had made the point of order that the bill must, under Rule 112, receive its first consideration in a Committee of the Whole House.

After debate thereon,

The Speaker sustained the point of order on the general ground that, there being a dispute as to the interest of the government in the land in question, the government was entitled to the benefit of the doubt, and the bill was accordingly committed to the Committee of the Whole House and, with the report, ordered to be printed.

SAME DAY.—Page 363.

The House then proceeded, as the regular order of business, to the consideration of the bill of the House (H. R. 564) to amend certain sections of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to coinage and coin and bullion certificates, and for other purposes, reported from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures on the 30th ultimo, with amendments, the pending question being on the motion to lay on the table the motion to reconsider the vote by which the main question was ordered, on which the yeas and nays had been ordered, which order, by unanimous consent, was vacated.

The Speaker stated that on yesterday he had overruled the point of order made by Mr. Garfield that a motion for the reconsideration of the main question was not in order when the same was partly executed, being governed in such decision by disjointed reports read from the Record as to the exact situation of the question, and he would accordingly withdraw that decision, and the question would then recur on agreeing to the eighth section as amended;

And being put,

The said section, as amended, was agreed to.

SAME DAY.—Page 376.

Mr. Godshalk, at 9 o'clock and 55 minutes p. m., moved that the House adjourn; on which motion Mr. White demanded the yeas and nays.

Mr. Casey Young made the point of order that the said motion was not in order, and that during proceedings under a call of the House the yeas and nays were not in order.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Springer) overruled the point of order on the ground that under the Constitution (section 4, Article I) one-fifth of the members present had the right to have their names entered on the Journal on any question, and also on the further ground that, under Rule 44, a motion to adjourn and a motion to fix the day to which the House shall adjourn shall be always in order, and these motions and the motion to lie on the table shall be decided without debate.

Mr. Young appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Pending which,

Mr. Blount moved that the said appeal do lie on the table; which motion was agreed to.

So the decision of the Chair was sustained.

SAME DAY.—Page 377.

Mr. Carlisle submitted the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That further proceedings under the call of the House be postponed and made the special order for to-morrow at half past twelve o'clock, and that the Sergeant-at-Arms at that time bring in and report to the House the absentees, if any, not yet reported.

Mr. Reagan made the point of order that the said resolution was not in order at this time, the effect of the same being a recess, which motion was not in order.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Springer) sustained the point of order on the ground that but two motions were in order at the present time, viz, a motion to adjourn and a motion to dispense with all further proceedings under the call.

MAY 28.—Pages 404, 405, 406.

Mr. Springer having proposed to submit an amendment to Rule 51,

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the motion to proceed to dispose of business on the Speaker's table, which motion he made, took precedence of any other business, and that the motion of Mr. Springer was not in order at this time.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that Mr. Springer had been recognized for the purpose stated by him; but that, objection being made, the resolution must lie over one day under the rule, and thereupon directed the reading of said resolution.

Mr. Conger objected to its being read, and appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Pending which,

Mr. McMahon moved that the said appeal do lie on the table; on which motion the yeas and nays were ordered.

Pending which,

Mr. Brewer, at 1 o'clock and 30 minutes p. m., moved that the House adjourn;

And the question being put,

It was decided in the negative, { Yeas ..... 11 / Nays ..... 187 / Not voting ..... 87 }

So the House refused to adjourn,

The question recurring on the motion of Mr. McMahon that the appeal of Mr. Conger from the decision of the Chair do lie on the table,

And being put,

The roll was thereupon called, and the name of Mr. Poehler having been called,

Mr. Hunton made the point of order that the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. having arrived, reports were now in order from the Committee for the District of Columbia.

The Speaker sustained the point of order, and the roll-call was thereupon suspended.

The Speaker stated the regular order of business to be the bill of the House (H. R. 1381) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Potomac River at or near Georgetown, in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, reported from the Committee for the District of Columbia on the 5th instant, and pending when the House adjourned on that day.

SAME DAY.—Page 407.

Mr. Wood, as a question of privilege, proposed to report from the Committee of Ways and Means a resolution fixing the day of final adjournment of the present session of Congress.

Mr. Hunton made the point of order that the said resolution was not in order at the present time, the Committee for the District of Columbia having the exclusive right to the floor for the remainder of the day's session when claimed by the said committee.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Springer) sustained the point of order on the ground that reports from the Committee for the District of Columbia being in order only once a month at a particular hour named, it would be manifestly against the letter and spirit of that rule to permit other privileged questions to come in and interrupt said committee, which had the right to the floor (when claimed by them) after 2 o'clock p. m. on the third Monday of each month.

JUNE 2, 1879.—Page 425.

Mr. Springer gave notice of the following proposed amendment to Rule 51, viz:

Resolved, That Rule 51 be amended by adding thereto the following:

And any pending measure reported but not disposed of shall be regarded as unfinished business, and shall be in order after the morning hour of any day when such business would be in order.

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said notice of an amendment to the rules was not in order during the call of States and Territories on Monday for bills on leave.

The Speaker sustained the point of order on the ground that the rules and practice of the House did not provide for notice of amendments to the rules during the said call.

Mr. Springer thereupon moved the reference of the said amendment to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the rules did not provide for

And any pending measure reported but not disposed of shall be regarded as unfinished business, and shall be in order after the morning hour of any day when such business would be in order.

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said notice of an amendment to the rules was not in order during the call of States and Territories on Monday for bills on leave.

The Speaker sustained the point of order on the ground that the rules and practice of the House did not provide for notice of amendments to the rules during the said call.

Mr. Springer thereupon moved the reference of the said amendment to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the rules did not provide for the reference of proposed amendments to the rules on the call of States and Territories on Monday for bills on leave.

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that, under the decision of a former Speaker, sustained on appeal by the House, the said proposition submitted by Mr. Springer was in order under said call, said decision being binding on the Chair until reversed by the House.

Mr Conger appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Pending which,

Mr. Cox moved that the said appeal do lie on the table;

When

The morning hour expired.

JUNE 4, 1879.—Page 437.

The Speaker then stated the regular order of business to be the motion of Mr. McMahon to lay upon the table the appeal of Mr. Conger from the decision of the Chair on Wednesday last in relation to the right of Mr. Springer to submit, as an independent motion, an amendment to the rules;

When

Mr. Conger withdrew the said appeal.

The said resolution was thereupon read, as follows, viz:

That Rule 51 be amended by adding thereto the following:

And any pending measure reported, but not disposed of, shall be regarded as unfinished business, and shall be in order after the morning hour of any day when such business would be in order.

Ordered, That the same lie over one day under the rule.

SAME DAY.—Pages 440, 441.

(The House having under consideration H. Res. 1.)

Mr. Hawley moved to amend the committee's amendments by adding thereto the following, viz:

Insert the following as an additional section:

SEC. —. That there shall be paid to the retired officers of the Army who have not received their pay according to the rank on which they were originally retired since March 3, 1875, the difference in pay between the amount actually paid them and their pay as fixed by law on the rank on which they were so retired; and hereafter they shall be borne on the retired list with the rank and pay as originally retired.

Mr. Whitthorne made the point of order that the said amendment was not in order, not being germane to the pending bill, and not in order at the present time.

Mr. White made the further point of order that the said amendment was subject to the conditions and requirements of Rule 112.

The Speaker sustained the said points of order on the ground that the amendment proposed to add new matter to an appropriation bill which had passed both Houses; and that while it was not in the power of the House to restrict the Senate in the amendment of a House bill, by House rules it was competent to require such an amendment, involving an appropriation not germane to the bill, to receive its first consideration in the Committee of the Whole House.

SAME DAY.—Pages 442, 443.

Mr. Springer, as a question of privilege, submitted the following preamble and resolution, viz:

(See above-named pages.)

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said preamble and resolution did not present a question of privilege, and also on the ground that the resolution conferred additional powers on a committee and involved the expenditure of money.

Mr. Calkins made the further point of order that testimony and evidence taken by the Forty-fifth Congress could not be taken cognizance of by the present Congress.

The Speaker overruled the said points of order on the grounds that the Constitution vested in the House the sole power of impeachment, and said question had been uniformly held to be one of privilege; that it was competent to confer additional authority upon a committee by the addition of instructions; that the resolution did not make or directly require an appropriation of money, and that it was competent for the present House to take notice of testimony or evidence taken by a preceding Congress, and that it has always been the practice to take papers and documents from the files of the House and refer the same to committees.

JUNE 5, 1879.—Page 446.

Mr. Singleton also, from the Committee on Printing, to which was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 1568) to provide for the election of a Congressional Printer, and for other purposes, reported a substitute therefor.

Mr. Conger made the point of order that the said bill was not one of the matters which the Committee on Printing had the privilege to report at any time, and could only be reported (except by unanimous consent) on the regular call of the said committee.

The Speaker sustained the point of order on the ground that the decision of the Speaker in the second session of the Forty-second Congress, and affirmed by the House, that the Committee on Printing had the right to report at any time only on matters of printing, had established a practice that must govern the Chair until reversed by the House.

Which decision of the Speaker was acquiesced in by the House.

JUNE 9, 1879.—Page 459.

The Speaker announced the regular order of business to be the call of States and Territories for bills on leave, and stated the first business in order under said call to be the motion of Mr. Cox to lay on the table the appeal of Mr. Conger from the decision of the Chair on Monday last, that a resolution proposing an amendment to the rules was in order for reference to the Committee on Rules during the first call of States and Territories for bills on leave in the morning hour of Monday;

When

Mr. Conger withdrew said appeal.

So the House acquiesced in the said decision of the Speaker.

JUNE 12, 1879.—Pages 484, 485.

The Speaker proceeded, as the regular order of business, to call the committees for reports;

When

Mr. Murch, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, reported the following resolution, viz:

"Resolved, That the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds be, and are hereby, authorized and directed to inquire into all matters pertaining to the preparation and furnishing of all material for the construction of public buildings and the manner of constructing the public buildings of the United States under the different systems adopted by the Government of the United States, and to report to this House, by bill or otherwise, what legislation is necessary to secure good material and good and suitable work at fair and reasonable compensation to the mechanics and workmen employed on public works; and said committee are further instructed to inquire into all expenses pertaining to the erection of the public buildings of the United States, and to make all such further inquiries as they may deem proper. And said committee are authorized to send for persons and papers and to administer oaths. And said committee are further authorized to employ a stenographer at a fair compensation. And said committee are authorized to appoint a subcommittee of its own members for the purpose of pursuing these investigations; said committee when appointed to have all the powers conferred by this resolution. And said committee or its subcommittee may make their investigations either at the city of Washington or at any of the cities or other places where public buildings are being erected or material prepared, as they may deem proper. And said committee or its subcommittee may sit during the sessions or recesses of Congress; and the expenses attending the carrying out of these investigations shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the House of Representatives, not to exceed $5,000, and the Clerk of the House of Representatives is hereby authorized and directed to pay the same."

Mr. Garfield made the point of order that the said resolution must, under Rule 112, receive its first consideration in a Committee of the Whole, as it authorized and directed the payment of money "out of appropriations already made."

The Speaker sustained the said point of order on the ground that the clause of Rule 112 "authorizing payments out of appropriations already made" was explicit in regard to all "proceedings touching appropriations of money," and the resolution was accordingly referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and ordered to be printed.

JUNE 30, 1879.—Page 590.

The call of States and Territories for bills on leave having been concluded, the Speaker proceeded to call the States and Territories for resolutions;

When

Mr. Acklen made the point of order that the first business in order under said call was the following resolution, submitted by him on the 23d of April last on the call of States and Territories for resolutions, viz:

"Resolved, That a select committee of five members of this House be appointed by the Speaker, which committee shall have power to sit during the recess, to inquire into all claims of citizens of the United States against the Government of Nicaragua for indemnity for lives of relatives taken, wounds and other personal injuries inflicted, and property taken, injured, or destroyed, which claims have heretofore been filed in the Department of State and now remain pending and unsatisfied; and said committee shall ascertain and determine what amounts and to what persons the Government of Nicaragua is liable to make compensation on account thereof, and report the same, with the evidence in reference thereto, to Congress at its next session; and said committee shall give such public notice as it may deem necessary of the times and places when and where it will sit to hear said claims and testimony in support of the same, and shall have power to send for persons and papers, and administer oaths. It shall also obtain and use all proofs relative thereto on file in the Department of State, and such other evidence as any party in interest may produce and offer that it may deem pertinent thereto. It shall have power to employ a clerk and a stenographer; and the necessary expenses of said committee shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the House on the vouchers of the chairman of said committee."

The Speaker overruled the point of order on the ground that a proposition coming before the House under the operation of a particular rule took its place thereunder and was not entitled to status under the operation of another rule, thereby giving it an additional or double privilege not contemplated by the rules or in harmony with the practice of the House.
